Highway Deaths Hit Record Pace

Holiday Traffic Fatalities Rise Past 300 Mark

By The Associated Press

Traffic	302
Boating	5
Drowning	13
Total	320

Labor Day weekend traffic deaths mounted Sunday at a pace described by the National Safety Council as the worst ever recorded for the second-day stage of the 78-hour period.

With more than a full day remaining in the holiday period, the toll soared to 302 in compilation by The Associated Press that started at 6 p.m. Friday and ends at midnight Monday (local times).

Record 557 Last Year

A spokesman for the safety council said Sunday that fatalities were rising at a faster pace than last year, when they reached 557, a record for a Labor Day weekend.

Rain spreading from the Central Plains to the upper Mississippi Valley made many highways hazardous Sunday.

Multiple death accidents boosted the total.

Four persons died in a collision near Little Rock, Ark., Saturday night and four young men and a girl lost their lives earlier in a head-on crash of two automobiles near Rufus, Ore.

Ohio Crash Kills Four

Another collision near Ironton, Ohio, killed two men and two young children.

The safety council has estimated that traffic accidents would take between 490 and 590 lives during the weekend.

An Associated Press survey covering a recent non-holiday period of three days showed 456 deaths in traffic, 20 in boating accidents and 30 by drowning for a overall total of 506.

The tallies for the Labor Day weekend last year in the same order were 557,21 and 54 — 632.

MRS. BARKLEY DIES—Mrs. Jane Barkley (above), widow of the late Vice President Alben Barkley, died yesterday in Washington. She was 52. (AP Photofax)

Jane Barkley, Widow Of Late Veep, Dies At 52

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Jane Barkley, whose romance with former Vice President Alben W. Barkley made headlines, died Sunday at her Washington apartment. She was 52.

Her 1949 wedding to the courtly Kentuckian climaxed a romance that was followed by much of America as the 72-year-old veep flew from Washington to St. Louis on weekends to press his suit for the hand of the comely widow.

Born Elizabeth Jane Rucker in Keytesville, Mo., she was educated in Europe where her mother was a pianist and teacher.

Married at 19 to an attorney, Carleton S. Hadley, she was widowed by his death in 1943 and went to work as a secretary at Washington University in St. Louis.

After Barkley died in 1956, she returned to secretarial work and at the time of her death was appointments secretary to Thomas Henry Carroll, president of George Washington University.

After her second marriage, Mrs. Barkley was the toast of Washington social circuits.

She was of Republican leanings before she married Democrat Barkley, and was an ardent supporter of Wendell Willkie, the GOP presidential candidate against Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1940. She once tried to convert her Democratic milkman by leaving him a note reading "No Willkie, no milkie."

But she was converted and in 1950 campaigned for Democratic candidates.

Little Sister Trails Hurricane Dora

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Buxom Hurricane Dora moved northwest through the Atlantic about halfway between Bermuda and the Bahamas Sunday while a little sister trailed after her.

The U.S. Weather Bureau in Miami called Dora "a large and dangerous hurricane." Under her dominating influence 900 miles east was tropical storm Ethel. Ethel also was moving northwestward.

Dora was moving at about 10 miles an hour but she packed a punch: 125 miles per hour winds over a small area near the eye.

YOUNG RIOTER — This youth was one of several who met stern police action Saturday night when pleading failed to contain nearly 1,000 rioting teen-agers at Seaside, Ore. Police, Guard Quell Oregon Student Riot

SEASIDE, Ore. (UPI) About 1,000 students on their last fling of the summer rioted in this resort town Saturday night and early Sunday, battling police with rocks and sand-filled beer cans.

State police and National Guardsmen were expecting trouble, however, and they firmly put the disturbance down with billy clubs and ax handles in a three - hour battle through downtown streets.

Troopers patrolled the barricaded main street Sunday and said they were prepared for any further outbreak of violence.

Four rioters were admitted to Seaside Hospital for treatment of minor injuries during the night's battles. Hospital officials said a "number of others" were given first aid for bumps and scrapes.

Seventy-five youths were jailed on charges ranging from unlawful assembly to violation of liquor laws.

No policemen were reported among the injured, and damage to the town was limited to a few broken windows.

This marked the third consecutive year that students have rioted in Seaside after converging on the town for the annual Labor Day end-of-summer fling.

In preparation, riot-trained state police were on hand this year along with guardsmen brought secretly into the area.

The town was tense all day Saturday, and by evening a crowd estimated as high as 2,000 packed downtown Seaside's neon-lighted collection of bars, cafes, arcades and curio shops.

Police sealed off traffic from Broadway, the main street, which runs from the coast highway to the beach.

Firecrackers Set Off 2-Hour Cyprus Battle

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — A teen-age Greek shepherd boy lit two firecrackers and set off a two-hour gunbattle in a village east of Nicosia Saturday night, the United Nations reported.

Villagers heard the popping, rushed to battle positions and began firing shotguns.

The incident occurred in the village of Arsos which has a mixed population of Greek and Turkish Cypriots.

There were no casualties except for the shepherd boy, who had his ears boxed by the village headman.

Children Fortunate

HANNOVER, Germany (AP) — A German army shell, fired outside Hannover during a training exercise, miscarried and exploded in a kindergarten playground. Police said children in the kindergarten got nothing more than a bad fright. A 6-year-old boy playing next door was injured slightly.

Johnson Kicks Off Vote Drive In Detroit Today

DETROIT (AP) — President Johnson's speech here Monday marks the fifth successive Labor Day address of its sort here by a Democratic candidate for the nation's highest office.

Two successful aspirants before him — and a third who failed, twice — delivered kickoff speeches at the storied site of Detroit's old City Hall, now Kennedy Square.

Like the three others, President Johnson makes his first big bid for voter support in this stronghold of organized labor.

Although the appearance is a traditional one, Johnson's press secretary, George E. Reedy, said Friday it would not be correct to describe the President's Labor Day speech as a campaign appearance, to say nothing of a campaign curtain-raiser.

"I'm not labeling this a campaign trip," Reedy said. "He's going out to Detroit to make a Labor Day speech."

President Johnson himself in a news conference on Saturday stuck to the official White House line that his Detroit speech will be nonpolitical. But he did say the Democratic party will pay for his five-hour trip by plane from Washington to Detroit and back.

Harry S. Truman, a winner, was the first aspirant to appear in 1948. Adlai E. Stevenson, a loser both times, followed in 1952 and 1956. The late President John F. Kennedy spoke in 1960. He won.

Huge crowds massed downtown for all. The same is anticipated for Johnson.

Bloody Race Rioting Ends In Singapore

Malaysian Leader Blames Indo, China Reds For Outbreak

SINGAPORE, Malaysia (AP) — Racial fighting that raged for four days ended Sunday night and this important Malaysian port slowly returned to normal.

Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman blamed this second racial outburst in six weeks on Indonesian and Communist Chinese agents.

The racial strife burst upon Rahman's Malaysian government as it fought off new attacks by units identified as Indonesian on the Malaysian mainland north of Singapore. Malaysia has been placed under virtual wartime security regulations.

In Jakarta, Indonesian Foreign Minister Subandrio announced that Indonesia has decided to adopt an "offensive attitude" toward Malaysia, a British-backed federation born a year ago.

Malaysians Head For U. N.

Emerging from an extraordinary meeting of the Supreme Indonesian Operational Command, Subandrio told newsmen: "We are going to enhance our moves offensively, but not in a sense that we become aggressors or expansionists."

A Malaysian delegation headed, meanwhile, for the United Nations in New York to complain to the Security Council about Indonesian landings in Malaysia.

Last month, Malaysia charged that an Indonesian force of about 100 landed on its west coast. Last week, Malaysia charged that 30 Indonesian paratroopers landed in Johore State.

The Singapore rioting between Chinese and Malays left 11 dead and 84 injured. Government officials eased restrictions somewhat in Singapore but said they were acting cautiously. Tough riot troops stood by.

Indonesia, Peking Accused

In Kuala Lumpur, Rahman accused the Indonesians and the Chinese Reds of seeking to topple Malaysia.

Indonesian leaders, he said, want to "rob this nation of all its wealth, strip it bare as they have robbed Sumatra, Celebes, Kalimantan (Indonesian Borneo), leaving poverty, hunger and distress.

"Having failed with sabotage and subversion, they (Chinese and Indonesians) employed provocation and incitement to precipitate internal trouble and disturbances," Rahman said in a speech to his united Malay National Organization party.

Mercenaries' Use Defended By Congo Boss

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP) — Premier Moise Tshombe of the Congo defended Sunday his use of white mercenaries to fight Congolese rebels. But at the same time he put before an African conference a plan to dispense with them.

Addressing an extraordinary meeting of the Organization for African Unity, Tshombe also put forward a suggestion to end the disputes between the Congo and neighboring countries.

On mercenaries, Tshombe said: "I know that many of you object to my having engaged the services of these volunteers and criticize me accordingly. "The Congolese army has had a very rough time.

"In order to strengthen it and increase its striking power I had to accept the services of these foreigners."

The mercenaries came mainly from the Rhodesias and South Africa.

"As I desire warmly to cooperate with my African brothers," Tshombe went on, "I would have liked, if possible, to dispense with the services of these men.

"In order to achieve this, I even applied for help to other African states some time ago. I think that troops and police forces from friendly African states could be stationed in the calm regions, and in those where order has already been established."

Indian Leader Plans To Meet Worst Crisis

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri faced Sunday the worst political crisis of his three turbulent months in office. He was reported to be planning stern action to prevent serious trouble.

Shastri's political organization in Kerala State, a hotbed of communism, has fallen apart and a united opposition threatens to toss out his state government with a no-confidence motion Monday in the legislature.

This political threat, plus widespread food riots in the tropical southern state, reportedly has Shastri on the verge of ordering president's rule — a rare move that would put all state affairs directly under the New Delhi government.

Top officials of Shastri's Congress party, themselves divided, have been sent into Kerala with the mission of cleaning up the political wreckage before the legislature opens.

President's rule — akin to Washington taking over all the affairs of a state in the United States — almost certainly would goad India's Communists into more of the demonstrations that swept India last month.

Police have arrested thousands and struck a hard blow at Kerala's Communist organization, which was given a good chance of defeating Congress in the state election early next year. Critics said Shastri was only housecleaning in preparation for the balloting.

However, a new crisis arose when some Congress members of the legislature broke away from Shastri's control and announced they would vote for a no-confidence motion.

The motion was almost certain to pass because the Congress party has less than one-third of the legislative seats.

Other problems have mounted, giving Shastri his worst weekend since he succeeded the late Prime Minister Nehru in June.

Food shortages continued to arouse widespread discontent among India's landless and penniless millions, and Shastri's government came under severe public criticism that Nehru never had to endure.

The influential Indian Express group of newspapers published an editorial calling for strong action on the grounds that discontent was rising and the Congress party was disunited in at least four states.

Chrysler And Union Negotiate In Secrecy

Subcommittees met in morning sessions to discuss secondary matters, with talks at the main bargaining table slated for the afternoon and evening.

Store Is Dynamited In Negro Community

CANTON, Miss. (UPI) — A dynamite blast ripped through a white-owned grocery in a Negro neighborhood Sunday. Eight sticks dynamite were found in another store in the neighborhood.

No injuries were reported in the explosion. Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation investigated the blast in this central Mississippi town where civil rights leaders claim a negro boycott of downtown merchants has been "85 per cent effective."

The explosion in Joe and Barb's Grocery went off at about 4:45 a.m. EDT. The store is owned by Joe Ferguson, a white man.

George Raymond, Negro director of the Council of Federated Organizations (COFO) activities in Canton, said the walls of the concrete block building was left standing but the interior was "extensively damaged."

"All the windows were blown out, and the street was covered with pieces of block, wood and glass," Raymond said. He said much of the merchandise was destroyed.

Raymond said the FBI and sheriff's deputies removed eight sticks of unexploded dynamite from under the George Washington Grocery after the Negro owner, George Washington, saw a Cable leading under the building.

COFO said the two stores were the only ones patronized by Negroes during the current boycott of Canton stores. It said Washington had been active in voter registration activities and recently testified before a civil rights commission hearing in Jackson.

Fire Destroys Church, Homes At Louisville

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A four-alarm fire destroyed several buildings, including a warehouse, church and homes, in a predominantly Negro section near downtown Louisville Sunday. There were no fatalities.

Mayor William O. Cowger described the fire as one of the worst in the city's history.

No one was injured seriously. Two firemen overcome by smoke were treated at the scene and three women were hospitalized for shock.

Civil Defense director Sam Bridgers estimated 30 familes were made homeless by the blaze. Thirty other families also evacuated their homes. Many watered down the buildings with garden hoses, while others piled furniture in lawns and streets.

Seven cars and two trucks, parked in the area, were demolished.

Firemen said the blaze started in a three-story, block-long brick warehouse. It was believed empty.

Several explosions shook the area and flames leaped 100 feet in the sky. Smoke covered the southeastern section of the city and electric power went off, putting traffic signals out of operation, for a time.

St. Mark's Baptist Church, which occupied a two-story brick store building, was destroyed.

Two Youths Steal Truck, Crash Barriers To West

FURTH IM WALD, Germany (AP) — Two youths in a stolen truck crashed through Communist border barriers from Czechoslovakia Sunday and escaped into West Germany. Bursts from Czechoslovak submachine guns seriously wounded one of them.

Aged 18 and 14, the boys told West German police they fled Czechoslovakia because "we didn't like it there any more." Their identifications were withheld.

Their flight — the second gatecrashing escape from Czechoslovakia in 10 days — shattered a quiet Sunday dawn at the newly opened Folmava-Schafberg border checkpoint near this Bavarian town.

Bavarian police said the boys rammed their heavy truck at high speed through the steel barriers.

Czechoslovak guards opened fire. The elder boy behind the wheel was hit and collapsed. The truck swerved off the road came to a halt on the Czechoslovak side of a small shallow river which marks the border, West German police reported.

As the Czechoslovak guards continued firing, the boys dropped from their seats and crawled through the water to West German territory.

They were hospitalized here where the elder boy was reported in serious condition with wounds in the face, arm and abdomen.

German authorities said they have lodged a verbal protest with Czechoslovak officials because several of the bullets had hit the German customs house and other points well inside German territory.

S. Viet Nam Chief Yields To Buddhists

Informed Sources Say Premier Plans Another Shakeup

SAIGON, South Viet Nam, (AP) —Premier Nguyen Khanh will send three key generals out of the country in another governmental shakeup aimed at winning Buddhist support of his caretaker regime, informed sources disclosed Sunday.

Khanh probably will announce the reshuffle when he returns to Saigon Monday from a coastal resort.

The Buddhists, meanwhile, showed their strength when 150,000 turned out for the funeral of two Buddhists students killed in recent Roman Catholic-Buddhist rioting. Unmarred by any new violence, the procession stretched several miles.

The expected political changes indicate that major power plays are still going on despite promises from dissident factions to give Khanh two months to get South Viet Nam on the road to civilian rule. The sources said Khanh also is making changes to suit his own purposes as well as to placate the Buddhists.

"Diplomatic Missions"

Although the generals will be sent abroad on diplomatic missions, the real purpose of their assignments will be to eliminate them temporarily from the domestic political scene.

Among those slated to go is Lt. Gen. Tran Thien Khiem, defense minister in the caretaker government and Khanh's close personal associate. The others are Brig. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu, army chief of staff, and Maj. Gen. Do Cao Tri, commander of the country's largest military operational area.

Khiem may be asked to make a trip through Southeast Asia to win support for the Saigon government. Tri and Thieu may be given ambassadorships.

Gen. Taylor Heads Home

Tri has been a target of Buddhist anger for his alleged role in the suppression of Buddhists during the regime of the late president, Ngo Dinh Diem. Thieu has been attacked for his connections with the Catholic-Dai Viet party.

Khanh, who had relied heavily on Dai Viet support, lately accused the party of plotting a coup against him.

U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor left Saigon to report to President Johnson in Washington. He had delayed his departure because of the political crisis.

At the airport, Taylor said it was too early to say if the crisis has ended. "Obviously, the intent is very good indeed to give civilian aspect to this government which has been almost entirely under the control of the military. Its purpose is fairly laudable."

Factory Closes; 450 Migrants Stranded

EDMORE, Mich. (UPI) — About 250 Puerto Rican and 200 Mexican migrant workers were stranded without money thousands of miles from home Sunday because a pickle factory closed down suddenly.

Government officials, ministers and folks in this community of 1,300 in Michigan's fruit country rushed to their help.

"We can't let them down," village Mayor Charles Mox said. "It's our responsibility as human beings to help."

Virginia Area Classes Were Closed In 1959

FARMVILLE, Va. (AP) — Public schools open Tuesday in Virginia's Prince Edward County for the first time since they were closed in 1959 to avoid court ordered integration.

Although the schools will operate on a desegregated basis, their enrollment is expected to be Negro. All except a handful of the county's white pupils will continue to attend the private, segregated Prince Edward Academy.

Although the rural county has fought against public school integration for ten years, no trouble is expected Tuesday. Most county white residents are expected to ignore the schools.

Prince Edward was one of the five cases involved in the Supreme Court's 1954 decision which held that the "separate but equal" doctrine was unconstitutional. The county managed to maintain segregated schools until early in 1959, when a federal court ruled that integration must begin that September.

The schools were closed after the county's board of supervisors failed to appropriate money for their operation.

Last May, the Supreme Court held that the supervisors must levy taxes and appropriate money to operate the schools. The following month, District Judge Oren R. Lewis put the high court's opinion into a court order.

Last year, the 1,600 Negro pupils attended classes operated by the Prince Edward Free School Association. The classes were held in four public school buildings rented from the county.

Most of the few white children who will attend the public schools also attended the free schools last year.

The public schools will have a desegregated faculty, with nine white teachers and 69 Negroes. The elementary grades will operate on a non-graded basis, as did the free schools last year.

The supervisors have voted $189,000 dollars as the county's share in operating the public schools. Board Chairman W. W. Vaughan concedes the public schools "won't be as fancy" as the free schools, which operated with more than $1 million in donated funds.

Negro attorneys who say the county's appropriation is too small have challenged it in the 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals. The case will be heard in November.

Legionnaires Convention Educated (Dallas Hopes)

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The first trickle of what will become a river of American Legion members begins flowing into Texas in the next few days for the national convention.

Although there was a time when the approach of a legion convention was eyed something like an advancing hurricane, this isn't so today.

"They're educated," says Bill Miller, referring to the legionnaires. Miller has made a career of preparing for legion conventions.

"They're convention educated."

In the days up to World War II, legion conventions were pretty noisy affairs — all in good fun but still noisy. No longer.

It isn't, says Miller, that the onetime warriors are getting old and thereby sedate. After all, there is a lot of energy left in the World War II and Korean conflict boys, and even some of the World War I doughboys are surprising.

Miller explains that once the legion convention was the big outing.

"They would leave their wives at home and go out with the fellows and have a good time," he says.

Maryland News In Brief

Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein reported receipts of $9,051,242, an increase of $811,004 over the same month a year ago and $532,048 more than official revenue estimates for August.

For July and August, the first two months of the new fiscal year, collections were $1.4 million more than anticipated.

EDGEWATER, Md. (AP) — A pilot, identified by the Federal Aviation Agency as John Kelly of Baltimore, died Saturday after his plane crashed in a tobacco field off Maryland 214.

The FAA said the single-engine plane lost both wings and crashed about two miles South of Lee Airport, near Edgewater.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin has charged financial discrimination against Baltimore City in the distribution of state aid for education.

In a letter to the Legislative Council, the mayor asked for further revision of the distribution formula, contending Baltimore is entitled to $1 million a year more than it is receiving.

A revised formula, which went into effect this fall, took into account the difference in property assessments and made some adjustments. But McKeldin said it didn't go far enough. He pointed out that Baltimore assesses at slightly more than 60 per cent of market value while the county average is 53 per cent.

Lab's Reactor To Be Infested With Mice Soon

LEMONT, Ill. (AP) — The newest reactor at Argonne National Laboratory will be infested with mice soon.

The $717,600 nuclear energy generator, brought to the critical self-sustaining reaction stage earlier this month, was designed to impart measured radiation doses to living animals.

Called Janus, after the Roman god who had two faces, the 200-kilowatt core of uranium-235 has its own two-faced feature. One face, or opening, is designed to emit relatively high radiation doses in short periods of time into a small exposure room. The other can allow very mild radiation to flood a second exposure room for long periods.

"Janus is expected," says Dr. Max Zelle, Argonne's director of biological and medical research, "to give us new information on neutron toxicity, particularly on the long-term effects of exposures of small laboratory animals to low doses and low dose rates."

Effects upon the exposed animals, themselves, will be studied, as well as their effects upon animal companions not exposed.

Plant life, too, will be irradiated for study projects.

The information obtained from these studies, Dr. Zelle said, can form a valuable basis for estimating effects of exposure situations on man.

Goldwater Assails Air Force Cutback

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — Republican presidential nominee Barry M. Goldwater fired a new verbal volley at the Defense Department Sunday and said Secretary Robert S. McNamara has closed more bases in four years than were closed in the eight years of the Eisenhower administration.

The senator again attacked the Johnson administration for "deliberately cutting back the Air Force." Goldwater said that, as a major general in the Air Force reserve, he fully understands the needs for a strong Air Force.

Goldwater made the statement in a telegram to a Georgia GOP worker, basing his comments on statements attributed to Rep. Carl Vinson, D-Ga., longtime chairman of the House Armed Services Committee and "dean" of the House who is retiring from Congress this year.

The Labor Day weekend festivities climaxed Luci's visit to Louisiana. She arrived at New Orleans Saturday to christen her first ship, the S.S. Louise Hayes.

Soviet Space Info Expected At Conference

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Startling Soviet space disclosures and a proposal for an international exploration of the moon are expected to highlight the world's greatest gathering of space scientists starting here Monday.

The meeting is the 15th International Astronautical Congress. More than 700 space experts from 40 nations have registered for the week of sessions.

The largest contingents are from the two great space powers, the United States and the Soviet Union. For the first time the Soviets are attending as official members of the International Astronautical Federation, the sponsoring organization.

Dr. Charles Stark Draper, president of the IAF's International Academy of Astronautics, said Soviet membership should increase the flow of Russian space information into international channels.

Best bet for new revelations at the conference is in space medicine, where the Soviets have a large information edge over the United States because of the longer total length of time their astronauts have spent in space.

Six Soviet cosmonauts have logged 382 hours in space, compared with a total of 53 hours for six American astronauts.

There have been indications from Soviet scientists that space flight beyond their longest mission, five days, might prove hazardous because of medical problems.

The proposal for a lunar international laboratory is slated for a half-day panel discussion Friday, with representatives of the United States, the Soviet Union, Poland, Great Britain, France and Bulgaria participating.

The gist of the proposal is that the United States and the Soviet Union go their separate ways in the race to land men on the moon. Then many nations would join to establish a scientific Antarctica-type base on the lunar surface.

LBJ Appearance At Conclave Not Salinger's Idea

WASHINGTON (AP) —Sen. Pierre Salinger, D-Calif., denied Sunday night that he advised President Johnson go to the Democratic National Convention to announce his choice of Sen. Hubert Humphrey as his running mate.

Speaking on Radio Press International's "From the People", the former White House press secretary said: "The President did call me to say that he was coming to Atlantic City with Mr. Humphrey.

"I said that I thought that that was a wonderful idea. But the President is well capable of making a decision like that without reaching into the Senate for its most junior member to ask his advice."

There were published reports at the time saying Salinger had advised Johnson to make the unusual appearance, over the objections of George E. Reedy, the presidential press secretary.

First explored by De Narvaez, a Spaniard, in 1528, Alabama often is called the Yellowhammer State.

LBJ Wins Over Barry Goldwater In Md. Crab Race

CRISFIELD, Md. (AP) — LBJ crept, crawled and skidded to victory over Barry Goldwater in a special race and Virginia Creeper won the feature event Saturday in the 17th annual Crisfield Hard Crab Derby.

The races were among the highlights of yearly program held at this self-styled "crab capital of the world," and Gov. J. Millard Tawes was among railbirds turning out for the weekend of fun.

Virginia Creeper beat out the hometown favorite, Maryland Crabber, in the feature race, which developed into a slumberfest with all six other entries falling asleep at the post. They were from North Carolina, Oregon, Delaware, Alabama, Connecticut and New Jersey.

Youth Riots Fail To Materialize At Ocean City

OCEAN CITY, Md. (AP) — This Atlantic resort town seemed ready to end the summer season without a fight Sunday as feared student rioting so far had failed to materialize.

Officials hoped a dance festival at a nearby race track Sunday night would forestall possible youth riots that have been almost a yearly rite on past Labor Day weekends.

About 1,500 persons, primarily of the younger set, milled on the boardwalk Saturday night, but there were no disturbances.

However, the town's 50-man summer police force, augmented by 23 State Police and a K-9 unit, remained on stand-by alert.

Despite sunny skies and near perfect weather, only about 100,000 persons, most of them ranging in age from 15 to 25 arrived for the holiday weekend. Labor-day weekend, traditionally the busiest of the season, usually attracts around 150,000.

Beaches were only about half full and vacancies were reported at nearly every motel and hotel.

Quiet also prevailed in Baltimore where officials announced last Tuesday that reliable sources reported outside agitators were planning to set off rioting in the city's Negro sections.

Leaves for the city police force were canceled for two weeks. President Johnson assured Mayor Theodore McKeldin that federal assistance would be available if needed. A National Guard unit was placed on alert.

Negro leaders promised full cooperation and appealed to the Negro community on radio and television to resist any attempts to stir up violence.

Bald cypress was designated the state tree of Louisiana by an act of the 1963 Louisiana legislature.

AND THIS SHIRT CAN STILL LOOK LIKE NEW?

YES we could launder a dress shirt over 200 times and it would still look like new... if it were not worn by your husband. Don't get us wrong. He's no different from other men in this respect but his wearing wears out shirts. But, in between his wearing, if you let us launder his shirts, they will last longer. We use the mildest suds possible, the softest water, and the gentlest handling. Moreover, his shirts will not only last longer, they'll look smarter, too.

Woman To Woman

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Bridge expert Bee Schenken wrote the following guest column for Patricia McCormack, vacationing Woman to Woman columnist. She is married to Howard Schenken, noted bridge authority. Together they broke the record in televisions championship bridge by winning five times.)

By BEE SCHENKEN

NEW YORK (UPI) — You don't have to trump your husband's ace to start a war at the bridge table.

You might suggest that he could have made a contract by finessing the other way or playing trump first. But these seemingly innocent words could be the fuse to set off a bomb.

I have been at many tables where this has occurred and I know. With the exception of a few grade "A" players who can weather this nonsense, these players are "losers."

When any remark other than a complimentary one is made at the table the mate of the "big mouth" sits and waits as a vulture might, to find an error. This generally occurs on the next hand or two, as there is too much tension at the table to think coherently.

Just try to win at anything under three circumstances!

Now you take my fella. In Toronto this summer at the nationals, we were leading the mixed team going into the second session and on one hand I misjudged and lost this board for our team.

Believe me. It was not an error in judgment. I just misplayed the miserable hand.

When I completed this performance, in front of an audience of 30 kibitzers, Sir Howard (you would call him "Sir Howard," too) asked me if I cared for some water.

I started to say I wasn't thirsty when he nodded affirmatively in his own inimitable way. We walked to get our water—and my lecture.

The lecture went like this: "Baby, you know I love you and I would rather play bridge with you than with anyone in the world."

He terminated the preachment with a pep talk and a hug and a kiss. Now I ask you. How can you go back and not play good bridge?

Two years ago, on the S. S. United States, we were participating in a bridge cruise. There was a couple who behaved so disgracefully I was embarrassed.

Later that evening they approached us in the bar and marveled that we were holding hands. They seemed quite attractive away from the bridge table.

I gave her the same advice I give all married couples. It goes like this:

"If an error is made, minute or glaring, force a smile and say—'tough break, honey.' The hands that follow now seem less difficult to play."

And when the bridge game is over you must follow this rule: No trouble hands are to be discussed until such a time when all tension of the game has subsided.

And my parting words to you wonderful enthusiasts:

"If you don't make it this way, with this advice, you ain't gonna make it."

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South you hold:
♠KQJ10962 ♡7 ◇862 ♣54
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South
1 ♡	Pass	?

What do you bid?

A.—Four spades. First of all because there is a good chance you will make it and second because the enemy may have available a game contract in hearts which your action will serve to forestall.

Q. 2—You have 60 part score, and as South you hold:
♠KQ9 ♡AQ9 ◇AQ864 ♣J93
The bidding has proceeded:

East	South	West	North
1 ♣	Dble.	1 NT	Pass
Pass	Dble.	Pass	2 ♡
Pass	Pass	2 ♠	Pass
Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—You hold, to be sure, a hand of considerable merit. Do not on that account, however, subject yourself to a deliberate loss. Pause for a moment to ask what are the chances of your making nine tricks with your poverty stricken partner and you will see that discretion calls for a pass. You have given your all.

Q. 3—As South you hold:
♠AKJ762 ♡4 ◇8432 ♣A3
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♣	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Your holding falls slightly short of the requirements for a jump rebid to three spades, and you must content yourself with a simple rebid of two spades. This hand had an original valuation of only 15 points. You should, therefore, await partner's further action before making any highly aggressive move.

Q. 4—As South you hold:
♠J64 ♡10842 ◇943 ♣862
The bidding has proceeded:

West	North	East	South
1 ♠	Dble.	Pass	?

What do you bid?

A.—Follow the example of the chap who said, "I seen my duty and I done it." Obediently bid two hearts, the best suit you have. Some players engage in the unsound practice of responding with two clubs on worthless hands of this type. Such practice would be acceptable if you had no four card suit of your own, but the natural four card suit should always be shown in preference to responding with a three card suit.

Q. 5—Your partner has opened with one spade and you hold:
♠82 ♡93 ◇KJ9742 ♣KJ8
What is your response?

A.—One no trump. This hand is not quite strong enough to justify a response at the level of two in a new suit. It contains only eight points in high cards. It is true that valued at diamonds the hand is worth 10 points, but it is better policy not to make a forcing bid at the level of two with less than nine or 10 points in high cards.

Q. 6—As South you hold:
♠A85 ♡AK74 ◇AQ83 ♣72
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ♡	Pass	2 ♡	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Three diamonds. Your hand is worth 18 points valued at hearts and 17 at no trump. Therefore, one further try should be made. If partner merely returns to three hearts, you may pass but, if partner bids three no trump or four hearts, you should accept his choice of game.

Q. 7—As South you hold:
♠A962 ♡J10943 ◇1054 ♣J
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	Pass	1 ♣
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♠	3 ♣
Dble.	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Your hand has very little in the way of defensive values. As a matter of fact, it is totally in partner's bid suit, which detracts from its value. It is therefore improbable that the three club contract can be defeated. In self-defense you should return to three spades.

Q. 8—As South you hold:
♠6 ♡A8 ◇KQ985 ♣AK963
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ◇	1 ♠	2 ♡	Pass
3 ♣	Pass	3 ◇	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Three hearts. Since partner has made a free bid at a high level, he undoubtedly has a good heart suit. From the fact that you failed to raise his major suit at once, he will realize that you probably have no more than the ace and another trump, and you will be in a better position to judge the possibility of the hand after his next bid.

Opening lead: Six of ♣ East made repeated attempts to communicate with his partner, but West was obviously not tuned in on the same wave length and they suffered a disastrous setback on the deal.

North chose to open the bidding with one club and East overcalled with one spade. South contented himself with a simple forcing response of two hearts, and North refrained from offering an immediate raise with his minimum opener for fear that it might unduly excite his partner. Instead, North rebid two no trump.

East now showed his second suit by bidding three clubs. East's call convinced South that North did not have the bulk of his values in the club suit and, in an effort to obtain more information, South made a cue bid of three spades—East's original suit.

West was in position to raise his partner's club bid in order to lay the groundwork for a potential sacrifice; however, he was not certain that East actually had clubs inasmuch as the opposition had bid the suit originally. West accordingly declined to act.

When North revealed his heart support after South's cue bid, the latter decided to dally no further and he proceeded directly to six hearts. This decision was passed around to East who doubled. If his partner led a diamond, he could ruff with his small trump, and the ace of hearts would then take the setting trick.

The double of a slam bid is conventionally employed to secure an unusual lead. Inasmuch as East had bid both spades and clubs, he was hoping to tout his partner off of the normal lead of one of his suits. By a process of elimination, West might therefore be induced to make the desired diamond opening.

Unfortunately for East, the situation was somewhat complicated by the fact that North had also bid clubs. Inasmuch as the slam double convention provides as first preference the lead of dummy's first bid suit, West decided that East's three club call had been a strategic device to eventually secure a club lead. He therefore opened the six of clubs, and the defense quickly succumbed. Declarer discarded a diamond on the ace of clubs, drove out the ace of trumps, and subsequently took a finesse in spades to bring in his slam.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband says you will answer my question with a flat NO. I'm not so sure. Here it is anyway.

I am 48, have three married children and two younger ones, 12 and 14 years of age.

The children have always been in the habit of getting up at 6:30 A.M. — school or not, rain or shine. They clean up their rooms and enjoy making their own breakfast. The 14-year-old is a boy and his French toast is better than mine.

My husband usually gets up when the kids do but he doesn't always eat breakfast at home. He feels, nonetheless, that I should get up every morning at 6:30 with the rest of the family. I would like to sleep until 7:30 or 8:00 one morning a week.

Am I lazy, as he claims? What is your opinion?—
KIPSVILLE

DEAR KIP: A woman who has raised five children—three already out of the nest, and the other two apparently well trained and perfectly capable of preparing their own breakfast — has earned the right to hug the sack one measly morning a week, if she wants to.

Pick your morning (in fact, be my guest, and pick TWO mornings) and tell the kids they can prepare Pa's breakfast on those days if he wishes to eat at home.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a girl, 16, who has been dating a very handsome boy who came to this country recently from France. He speaks English rather well and understands almost everything said to him except "no." To put it another way, he has Roman hands and Russian impulses.

The boy is marvelous company when he behaves himself. His knowledge of history and politics is amazing. He plays the piano like a dream and has a beautiful singing voice. He knows a lot about poetry and painting. In fact, he is the best educated person I have ever met.

I hate to think of breaking up with him. He is so good for me, culturally speaking. But it's becoming awfully hard to keep him in line. What is you advice?— BELINDA

DEAR BELINDA: Get your culture from the library, the art galleries, and the concert halls — where the price is not so high.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I hope this letter will bring a measure of comfort to other women like myself, who have lost husbands — to younger women.

Eddie and I were married 29 years. I gave him a family any man would be proud of. I nursed him through three illnesses. Two years ago he had a bad heart attack. He recovered but the doctor told him he must take it easy.

On Christmas Day he asked me for a divorce — so he could marry a girl his daughter's age. I was shocked. The settlement

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by a doctor's observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all — this improvement was maintained in cases where a doctor's observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®) — the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H®. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: Recently you had a fascinating letter in your column about men who wear wedding rings. I agree with you. It doesn't mean a thing.

My husband's wedding ring left a very deep impression on me—or I should say on my lip — when he hit me during our honeymoon.

Bruce was one of those beautifully-mannered foreign phonies. He was the first one on his feet when a lady entered the room, the first one with the cigaret lighter — and the first one in the lifeboat. (We were on the Andrea Doria.)

After a four-week courtship I married this royal fourflusher, and the wedding ring was HIS idea. I confess the double-ring ceremony sounded very romantic and it was easy for me to agree to it.

I am no longer married to Bruce and you can bet your boots my present husband does NOT wear a wedding ring and he never will.

—HAPPY NOW

Dear Now: Thanks for your letter. You realize, of course, the jewelers are going to hate us both but I'm pleased that you supported my position.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm 52, and I've never been married. All of my adult life I've been burdened with ailing relatives who have kept me virtually broke. I've never been able to think about a life of my own.

Last year I met the girl of my dreams. She is a widow 45 years of age and the sweetest person I've ever known. I was particularly taken by her chestnut hair which fell to her knees when she took out the pins.

On Sunday she showed up for our dinner date with a boyish bob. It made me sick. I told her I was amazed she would do such a foolish thing. She wept for half an hour and said I was cruel to make so much of it.

Frankly, I have considered breaking off with the woman because she showed such poor judgment. Do you agree?

—M. L. M.

Dear M. L. M.: If you would break off with a woman because she cut her hair there's something wrong with YOUR judgment, Dad.

Hair grows, you know, and in a few month she will be able to attach a hair piece which will look like her own. If you're searching for an escape hatch, however, this one is as good as any.

Dear Ann Landers: Many times I have wanted to write to you and comment about something I've read in your column. Today I must do it.

I refer to the woman who said she despised people who were so insecure and groveling that they said "thank you" for the lovely evening three times and then phoned the next day or wrote a note.

The Swedish people have a special phrase which, when translated, means "Thanks for the last." Even though they thank the hostess when they leave they

If you wish to reach the top in any career, make sure today that you're a top-notch cooperater!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

To Reach The Top . . .

All of the Powers girls are lovely, of course, but some are just naturally endowed with greater beauty, and those are the ones you'd expect to be the most successful.

Frequently, however, it is the lesser beauties who climb right up to the top. And in every case, it's a girl who's especially pleasant to work with. She's the one you know you can count on for cooperation under even the most difficult circumstances and no matter when!

Whether you are a girl looking forward to your first job or already are launched on a career, your ability to cooperate is something you should evaluate and strengthen from time to time. Being able to work helpfully and willingly with other people under stress when necessary is as important to success as all the technical know-how that you can.

The girl who thinks it's enough just impersonally to do the job assigned to her, without consideration of others, will find advancement hard to achieve, no matter how competently she carries out her work. In a few years, with amazement she will discover that she has failed to progress as she compares her standing with that of those who have forged ahead to bigger and better positions.

No one will tell her that it is her lack of cooperation that has made her less popular in the office. It's too embarrassing to her co-workers to give her the facts — and those in charge will be giving all their attention to the more useful employes who through their willingness to cooperate are proving that they can and want to further the business.

How good a cooperator are you? As a check, answer the following questions honestly and accurately:

1. When a fellow worker feels ill, do you freely offer help with her work? 2. Are you resentful of extra assignments, even though you know they are unavoidable? 3. Do you show your displeasure? 4. Do you perform such extra work as well as your own? 5. Are you willing to let others help you when you get in a jam?

What should your answers be? No good cooperator would need to ask! That's as good a clue to your rating as you need!

For a real, all-out career program, read my handy booklet, "Your Steps to a Successful Career." Send only 10c and a stamped, return envelope to "Secrets of Charm," c/o this newspaper.

Finnigan's Hollywood

BY JOSEPH FINNIGAN

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Rickey Der is probably one of the luckiest Chinese boys in Hollywood, perhaps the whole world.

First, because he's living on this side of the Bamboo Curtain.

Secondly, because he's co-starring with Dennis Weaver, formerly "Chester" on "Gunsmoke," in a new television series.

Almost any 11-year-old boy, Oriental or Occidental, would trade his pet frog, rabbit's foot, favorite marble and an old turtle for such a job.

The role pays young Der hundreds of dollars each week, enough money to set him up in the fortune cookie business forever.

Rickey and Weaver appear in NBC-TV's "Kentucky Jones" series, a show which takes Dennis out of "Gunsmoke." He has been trying for years to get out of his own.

"Kentucky" is the story of a horse trainer, played by Weaver, and his adopted Chinese boy, "Dwight Eisenhower Wong," portrayed by Der.

Young Rickey not only works with Dennis, he lives with the Weavers in their large San Fernando Valley home. Rickey's home is in San Francisco where his father manages the Lun Hing Supermarket on Grant Avenue.

Unlike his fellow thespians, Der doesn't have much to say, an attitude in keeping with the stereotype inscrutable image of a Chinese.

But in Rickey's case, he's not inscrutable, he simply doesn't care to talk about acting. He leaves conversations on dramatic theory to Marlon Brando.

Rickey was chosen over 29 other youngsters who tried out for the part.

One factor in Rickey's favor was that he didn't act as if he was an actor.

Asked if he was the luckiest boy around, Rickey said, "I think some other people are luckier."

He was probably thinking of another boy — one fishing for crab.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Weed Out Wordiness

Want to know the best way to imitate a Conversational bore? Here are two trite-and-true traits to adopt:

1.) Include every unnecessary detail you can think of to embellish your story and to engross the point so thoroughly that your listener will never see it. You can, in fact, by expert digressing, get off on such a tangent that you lose the original point yourself.

2.) Settle on one or two dull rubber-stamp responses and be sure to repeat them frequently. Nothing adds so little flavor between phrases as expressions like, "Know what I mean?" or "Lemme tellya!" Keep a few hackneyed adjectives and expletives handy, too, for general purposes. "Oh, boy!" and "Swell!" are a bit old hat, but better than nothing. Spiciest of all, of course, and requiring the least intelligence, forethought and consideration for others are obscenities and vulgarities, one-or-two-syllable varieties preferred.

You must train yourself to think before you speak, to marshal your thoughts and the precise words to express them. This can't be done if you do your thinking while the other person is talking. It's listening attentively to others that will stimulate and upgrade the level of your own conversation.

Next time you hear a Conversational Bore revolving at full speed around irrelevancies, mark how little it really matters whether the exact day, name or address is reported and what little import is conveyed by tangents describing wardrobe details or dinner menus, course-by-course.

He or she gives everything away, eventually, by getting lost, confused and, finally self-consciously entangled in a maze of minor recollections, and helplessly begging, "Now, what was I really leading up to?"

It's equally important to work constantly on enlarging your vocabulary — by reading and by listening actively to others' speech — so that you don't catch yourself relying on the same tiresome words and phrases over and over again.

If you're interested in improving your conversation at the same time you improve your voice, read aloud from a dictionary or thesaurus while you perform the exercises I recommend in the pamphlet called "Your Most Attractive Voice."

You may obtain a copy of this pamphlet by writing to me, John Robert Powers, c/o this newspaper, enclosing 10c and a stamped self-addressed envelope. Delivery in two weeks.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Pentagon has announced that 32,000 troops will take part this fall in the first big test of the Army's new air mobility theories.

"Exercise Air Assault II" will be held between Sept. 20 and Nov. 15 over an area covering 4.5 million acres in the Carolinas and Georgia. Headquarters of the operation will be Ft. Jackson, S.C.

From Oct. 14 to Nov. 12, the 11th Air Assault Test Division will oppose an "aggressor" force from the 82nd Airborne Division, Ft. Bragg, N.C.

The final training exercise, designated "Hawk Blade," will take place Oct. 2-3.

Made It In Two

AKRON, Ohio (UPI)— Only two golfers — Arnold Palmer and Bobby Nichols — have reached the green on the 625-yard 16th hole at the Firestone Country Club course in two shots. They accomplished the feat on the same day, Aug. 23, 1963, in the American Golf Classic.

African Desert Trek Is Planned

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — A 12-man team of Belgian career and reserve officers plans in late November to attempt an unprecedented 3,000-mile vehicular crossing of the African wastes from Agadir, Morocco, on the Atlantic, to Port Sudan, on the Red Sea.

The almost trackless route passes through widely separated oases across the full breadth of the Sahara and the western and eastern deserts.

Underwood Hits Policy Of U.S. Roads Bureau

PARKERSBURG, W. Va. (UPI) — Republican gubernatorial nominee Cecil H. Underwood charged here Saturday night that West Virginians were in danger of losing their property rights assured them by the Constitution.

Underwood told a rally that the Bureau of Public Roads in Washington is "attempting to penalize West Virginia for rights of way purchases made since 1957."

He said the bureau "has set itself up as a more competent authority on West Virginia property values than local appraisers who live here."

Underwood said, "The bureau's current attempt to rob West Virginia of federal aid is a flagrant abuse of federal bureaucratic power.

"The bureau of public roads now says West Virginia made too much money for rights of way between 1957 and 1963. These purchases were made originally with the Bureau of Public Roads approval and sanction," he said.

The federal agency said recently it would penalize the Mountain State by several thousand dollars because of certain transactions investigated by the Congressional Blatnik Subcommittee.

Underwood added, "Our governor, state road commission and congressional representatives are making no fight for West Virginia property owners."

School Dropout

of Commerce, and Dr. Robert S. Zimmer, president of Allegany Community College.

The committee also presently has a display on the dropout problem in the chamber of Commerce window.

A national magazine, "Woman's Day," in its August issue calls the problem of school dropouts a national emergency.

The article states that 16 is the dangerous age for dropping out of high school, the age when youngster in most states, including Maryland, legally outgrow the need to attend. Nationally, one of three students is dropping out, typically in the tenth grade.

Thousands of young Americans at this moment have made this tragic decision without being fully aware of what they are up against, according to the article. They are looking for work in a nation where 700,000 between the ages of 16 and 21 are already unemployed.

'Times Have Changed'

Years ago many more students left high school to go to work. However, it was then possible to find jobs without a high school diploma. Today it is seldom possible. For one thing, unskilled work is scarce and getting scarcer.

The article points out that automation has knocked out a great many unskilled jobs. Although automation and other forms of technological progress also create new occupations, these jobs are forever beyond the reach of the inadequately educated.

Even the armed forces, once an important resource of youngsters, now prefer high school graduates who can be trained in technical jobs.

President Johnson's task force on the "war against poverty" also has stated that education is now the most important key to economic well-being. A high school diploma has literally become a "certificate of employability," in the words of Dr. Daniel Schrieber of the National Education Association's Project Dropout.

WE ARE BORN TO DIE!
EVERYONE SHOULD KNOW
ABOUT FUNERALS

Death seems to be a subject very few people want to talk or even think about. However the better informed one is, the better one can decide, not only which Funeral Director to call but which casket and service to purchase.

Today's funeral services symbolize the customs, the hopes, the ideals and the religious precepts of our society. They are affected by local, state and federal laws and regulations. They involve religious, social, fraternal, civic and military organizations. Their functioning provides an acceptable means by which the bereaved can find the needed adjustments to an altered way of life.

We extend a cordial invitation to everyone to visit our funeral homes, conveniently located, to inspect and compare our facilities, prices and services and to discuss any phase of the funeral business including pre-arranged funerals.

We also have available competent speakers, men or women, who will be glad to appear before groups of service clubs, Church and farm groups, schools, PTA and organizations such as fraternal, volunteer fire departments etc. to discuss any phase of the business from the technique of embalming to the much discussed High Cost of Dying.

Question Can I plan my estate to avoid the red tape Mrs. John Doe went through when her husband passed away?

Answer Estate planning is a complicated and exacting science. Everyone who owns anything — a car, house, bank deposit, credit union shares, insurance, business interest, retirement benefits, etc. — has an estate. This estate, regardless of size, represents the most important money in the world to those left behind. The care, maintenance and conservation of this estate is not simply desirable but absolutely essential. As you would not treat a member of your family for a serious illness, do not attempt to be a "do it yourself" estate planner. Contact your attorney, as he is an expert in this field. The Trust Officer of your bank is also an estate specialist. These men can be among the most important people in your life.

A Day For All American Workers

Labor Day in the United States today differs from its original pattern. But in its evolution can be seen an example of the unifying spirit which we believe is typically American.

More than three-quarters of a century ago—in 1882—the Knights of Labor decided that the first Monday of September should be called Labor Day, a day when the working man could pause to take stock of things and plan for the future. And with the organization's annual parade calling attention to labor's objective, state after state soon agreed.

Colorado was the first to act, making the day a legal holiday in 1887. In 1894 Congress passed legislation designating the first September Monday as Labor Day and making it a legal holiday throughout the nation.

It seems typical that once labor had staked out its claim to a day when it could direct attention to its accomplishments every class of society in the nation should join in the occasion. Parades and speechmaking are a much less prominent part of the annual observance than they once were.

But the whole country gladly marks the holiday, whether by an outing, a picnic, attending a sports event, or some other activity—or inactivity, if you will. In this manner, all Americans unite to recognize the nation's debt to those who do its work.

AFL-CIO Leaders Endorse LBJ But Worry About Rank And File Vote

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The AFL-CIO endorsement of President Johnson last week was the most unanimous political action ever taken by organized labor.

President George Meany emphasized this as he introduced board members to the President, pointing out that Jim Suffridge of the Retail Clerks, Maurice Hutcheson of the Carpenters, and Lee Minton of the Glass Bottle Blowers, all Republicans, had joined in the unanimous endorsement.

"I might also tell you, Mr. President," said Meany, "that Lee Minton seconded the motion to endorse you, offered by David McDonald of the Steelworkers. That's about as unanimous as you can get."

Meany then read one paragraph of labor's pro-Johnson statement, declaring: "When tragedy thrust upon him the duties of President, Lyndon Johnson undertook, with unsurpassed vigor, the task of fulfilling the program launched by John F. Kennedy. The legislative achievements of President Johnson, in ten months in office, are the greatest since the first Roosevelt administration."

Meany stopped suddenly and remarked: "The next sentence, Mr. President, sums up the whole reason for the enthusiastic support you are going to receive from labor."

The AFL-CIO leader continued to read: "The unflagging concern of Lyndon Johnson for the poor and deprived has, in all truth, aroused the conscience of all Americans."

Johnson seemed at a loss for words in expressing his gratitude.

Can Leaders Deliver?

But the big question in the minds of the AFL-CIO leaders, as they met in Washington, was whether they could deliver their rank-and-file votes to LBJ.

As one union president observed privately: "Our members have moved to the suburbs and acquired social status. They don't attend meetings and have forgotten the great advances labor union got for them."

Many union members have even forgotten that Labor Day was established when the unions were weak and workingmen were fighting an uphill battle to achieve higher wages and better working conditions.

Today Labor Day is just another holiday, the last chance of the summer to get to the mountains and the beaches.

In the higher leadership of labor, the AFL-CIO organization does a terrific job for all the nation. It was men like Andy Biemiller, former Congressman from Wisconsin, now a labor lobbyist, and Nelson Cruikshank who had much to do with passage of the Medicare Bill last week.

But this isn't known by rank-and-file members. This was the reason for private skepticism among the leaders last week that they could deliver all their members for Johnson. Times, they said, were too good.

Battle Over Jimmy Hoffa

One of the strangest conglomerations of Congressmen lined up behind Jimmy Hoffa in a closed door session of the House Judiciary Committee to vote an investigation of Attorney General Bobby Kennedy and his prosecution of Hoffa, who has been kicked out of the AFL-CIO.

The lineup is supposed to be secret, but this column can reveal the strange mixture of Republicans and Democrats who either loved Hoffa or hated Bobby Kennedy.

There was nothing strange, however, about the fact that Rep. Mike Feighan of Cleveland sparked the move to defend Hoffa. Feighan is the Democrat from Cleveland who has taken so many junkets abroad at the taxpayers' expense that he faced serious opposition in Ohio's May primaries. Ron Mottl, another Democrat, almost defeated him. What saved Feighan's political neck, however, was the fact that the Teamsters threw everything they had in the way of personnel and considerable money into Feighan's district. He barely squeaked through.

Today Feighan is grateful. He helped to organize the proposed Hoffa - Probe - of - Bobby Kennedy resolution which hitherto had been blocked inside the House Judiciary Committee.

Front runner for the resolution is Roland Libonati of Illinois, former attorney for Al Capone and now retiring from Congress. Libonati and Feighan were the only two Northern Democrats who voted for Hoffa. But five Southern Democrats, strongly anti-labor in the past, voted for Hoffa. They were E. L. Forrester, Ga., William Tuck, Va., Robert Ashmore, S.C., John Dowdy, Tex., and Basil Whitener, N.C.

Eleven Republicans also voted to investigate Bobby Kennedy's two Hoffa convictions. Most of these Republicans in the past have voted anti-labor. They were Bill Miller of New York, now a candidate for Vice President, Richard Poff, Va., William Cramer, Fla., Arch Moore, W. Va., George Meader, Mich., John Lindsay, N.Y., Garner Shriver, Kans., Clark MacGregor, Minn., Charles Mathias, Md., James Bromwell, Iowa, Carleton King, N.Y.

Their motive in getting an investigation of the Justice Department was largely to embarrass Bobby Kennedy while he runs for the Senate in New York State.

Twelve Democrats voted against Hoffa and against any probe of the Justice Department at this time. Some of them felt that the Justice Department may have been highhanded in going after Hoffa. This column has so reported in the past. But since the matter is now before the Court of Appeals they wanted to delay any Congressional interference.

Two Democrats, Frenk Chelf, Ky., and Harold Donohue, Mass., were absent, along with one Republican, Patrick Martin of California. They can tip the balance for or against a probe of Bobby Kennedy and of Jimmy Hoffa's convictions when the resolution comes up for a final vote on Wednesday.

LBJ Spikes 'Texas' Administration Rumors

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Normally, Presidents up for reelection do not discuss the shape of the next administration until the votes are safely counted. But President Lyndon Johnson is a free and easy rule breaker, and he is also extremely annoyed at the moment.

He is annoyed, to be specific, about the spate of reports that after next November the government of the United States will be exclusively staffed by Texans; that he is on bad terms with this or that Cabinet member and cannot wait to dump the miscreant; that no present Cabinet member except Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara will survive beyond New Year's Day; and so on and on and on.

Before and after this week's National Security Council meeting, the President therefore took the most drastic countermeasures that could be taken. At the defense and foreign policy luncheon which is informally linked to the NSC meeting, he tackled the subject head-on.

He began by complaining, with some bitterness, about the intentions that have been so widely attributed to him. He pointed out that he had repeatedly, openly and emphatically expressed his gratitude for the administrative team he inherited from President John Kennedy and his satisfaction with that team's performance under him.

He ridiculed the theory that no member of the team but McNamara would survive the predicted post-election reshuffle; and he used very hard language indeed about the most persistent of all the rumors about occupants of the Johnsonian dog-house — the rumor of the President's low opinion of Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon.

So much might have been said, of course, merely to encourage the troops, so to say, and without committing the President in any way. But from this beginning, the President went much further.

He did not quite go to the length of saying, "I want you here for this job and you there for that job." But he told Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense McNamara and the head of the White House foreign policy secretariat, McGeorge Bundy, that he hoped and expected all three of them to continue to serve under him after the election.

He further indicated that he would say the same thing to Secretary of the Treasury Dillon at the first opportunity. And a little later on the same day he seized a chance to tell Dillon just what he had told the others, and in this case he voiced the hope that Dillon would stay in his present post.

It must be added that the President being as superstitious as the next man, was careful to preface these revelations of his future intentions with the phrase, "If I'm reelected." Even so, the episode is something of a curiosity in the history of modern American politics.

It is much more than this as well, however, It is a fairly complete answer, in fact, to the rather numerous people who have been making worried forecasts about the kind of administration President Johnson will want, when and if he is President in his own right.

He is a hard man to serve, ruthless in his demands on the time, patience and loyalty of his personal staff. Except in the long ago days when he was youth administrator in Texas, he had never held an administrative post when he entered the White House. For these and several other reasons it has been justifiable to suspect that he might want an administration of yes-men and cronies.

Rusk and McNamara, Dillon and Bundy are neither yes-men nor cronies, however. Any administration in which these four men occupy key positions will be an administration of unusual distinction. And we now know that the President wants his next administration to include all these men, as well as not a few other members of the existing team — on the same occasion he also said that he thought the entire team was performing admirably.

Obviously there will be no absolute continuity between the Johnson administration that seems to lie in the future and the Kennedy-Johnson administration of today. Some will stay on, but others will go. There will be fewer of the leftwing intellectuals that President Kennedy favored. There will be representatives of new groups, such as the moderate Republicans who are abandoning their party and the businessmen for Johnson who are now being organized.

But the more lurid forecasts have been answered; the more somber fears can be laid to rest, in view of what has now happened. For unless they are very foolish — which President Johnson certainly is not — Presidents do not say the kind of thing he has now said without really meaning it.

These Days

By John Chamberlain

Struggle For Power?

On the platform at the Atlantic City Democratic convention Bobby Kennedy was a figure to tug at your heartstrings. Behind him, as he spoke so feelingly of his dead brother, there loomed the gigantic pictures of Lyndon Johnson and Hubert Humphrey. Together, these pictures could be taken as a portent of sixteen years of the Democratic Party future. With Johnson in the White House until 1972, and with Humphrey taking over from 1972 to 1980, any lingering ambitions that the Kennedys might have for a political dynasty seemed permanently scotched.

A few days later, however, it was not Bobby Kennedy who was the man to be pitied. The person to feel sorry for was Mayor Bob Wagner of New York. Standing on the platform at the New York State Democratic convention at the 71st Regiment Armory on lower Park Avenue, Mayor Wagner praised Bobby Kennedy to the skies in nominating him for Senator from New York. But then the Mayor let slip a telltale phrase. He said he was thoroughly convinced "on balance" that Kennedy was the best possible candidate for Senator that the Democrats might choose. The words "on balance" thundered through the hall; they brought up the vision of desperate hours of soul-searching on the Mayor's part about the probable control of the Democratic Party in the State once Kennedy energy. Kennedy prestige, Kennedy money, Kennedy relatives, and Kennedy friends had all gone to work to send Bobby to Washington to fill the shoes once occupied by Herbert Lehman or the senior Robert Wagner.

Lyndon Johnson supporters will tell you, though not for attribution, that the emergence of Bobby Kennedy in New York State is something that is meaningless in national power terms. They point to their man, Eddie Weisl, who has taken over Carmine de Sapio's spot as New York National Committeeman. The patronage, they say, will go through Wagner's hands, not Kennedy's. And anyway, Johnson's choice of Humphrey as Vice President has boxed Kennedy in, nationally speaking. Humphrey is the ADA's man, he is labor's man, and, as a Minnesotan, he is the farmer's man. Without the ADA-labor-farmer Left to fuel them, the machines built up by the Kennedy in 1960 can do little more than sputter.

I tried this Johnson-Humphrey theory of the future on some of the ardent Kennedyites at Atlantic City and, later, in New York. They would not buy it. They pointed to the role of accident in political affairs, arguing, quite correctly, that nothing can be plotted in advance over a sixteen - year curve. Death can intervene; the world abroad can erupt; taxes can provoke political overturns. And the law of averages, which has gone against the Kennedys so severely ever since young Joe Kennedy's death in wartime, could suddenly veer the other way. Teddy Kennedy's recovery from an airplane accident could prove to be symbolic.

The hope of the Kennedyites conjures up a vision of a mighty struggle for control of the Democratic Party. The hope is contingent on Democratic success this November at the polls all down the line. If Pierre Salinger wins his senatorial fight in California and if Bobby himself wins in New York, it could mean ultimate Kennedy control of the two most powerful states in the union. Teddy Kennedy's power in Massachusetts must inevitably spill over into neighboring states like New Hampshire, Rhode Island, and Connecticut. Sargent Shriver, a Kennedy-in-law, could always quit his Washington job as anti-poverty crusade czar and go home to run for important office in Illinois. With New York, California, Illinois, and New England in their pockets, the Kennedyites would be in a position to capitalize on the first break of fate between now and that hypothetical 1968.

The stories of feuding between Johnsonites and Kennedyites have always been papered over. But the geological fault lines are there to be seen by anybody with half an eye. It is incontestable that Lyndon Johnson edged Bobby out of Washington. It is equally incontestable that Bob Wagner, as Johnson's man, does not control the New York Democracy as long as such diverse characters as Harlem's Adam Clayton Powell, boss Charley Buckley of the Bronx, Brooklyn's Stanley Steingut, and Buffalo's Peter Crotty are around. A local power base is patently within Bobby's grasp. And, with brother-in-law Steve Smith's acumen guiding Kennedy affairs, who is to say that LBJ has banished Bobby from party leadership forever?

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

BURIAL COST — A couple of books and a Senate investigation busily have been uncovering the "high cost of dying" in the United States. Their concern has been with the practices of morticians who try to sell elaborate caskets and high-priced frills to the close relatives of the decedent in order for them to show "proper respect" for the dear departed.

Word coming from the Orient indicates the Red Chinese government has the same problem. "People's Daily," the leading newspaper in Communist China, commented recently that Chinese funerals are too elaborate and expensive. It denounced the practice of burning imitation money as a waste of paper.

The newspaper proposed that ritualistic and religious funeral proceedings should be replaced by simple memorial services in which the political and labor virtues of the deceased would be extolled by Communist Party officials.

The Chinese reverence of their elders is deeply ingrained and Peking probably will have no more success than Washington in checking the desires of relatives to "show" their grief for the departed in an ostentatious manner.

Revival Of An Old Operation For Milk Leg

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

A revival of an old surgical treatment for milk leg (deep thrombophlebitis) may solve one of our most perplexing problems. Infection in a large vein that lies deep in the thigh and pelvis may develop following childbirth (milk-leg). When a clot forms in this blood vessel, the affected leg swells to twice its size. Thrombophlebitis also may follow any abdominal or pelvic operation or leg fracture.

Two complications make this disorder serious and disagreeable. The first occurs occasionnally when the end of a clot breaks off and travels with lightning speed to the lung; if the clot is large, sudden death may ensue. The use of an anti-coagulant drug has lessened this possibility.

The second hazard is the residual swelling of the limb, which is unsightly and awkward, especially in women. Wearing elastic bandages or stockings helps somewhat but the outcome in general is not satisfactory. Fluid accumulates in the foot and leg because of blocking of the main vein and the lymphatic passageways.

Dr. J. Alex Haller Jr. of Baltimore revived an old operation in which the entire clot is removed from the involved vein (thrombectomy). The procedure is more successful now because of improvements in technique, anesthesia, and the use of anti-coagulant drugs, provided the operation is done within a few days after the disorder occurs.

In Dr. Haller's series, 34 patients were operated upon within 10 days of the onset of symptoms and followup studies reveal that all have normal or near normal limbs. In contrast, only one patient among a group of 11 improved when the operation was done between 14 and 21 days after onset. The secret is early surgery.

LINED FACE

Mrs. F. P. writes: I have heard of acne scars being planed off by a method similar to sandpapering. Would it help to plane deep lines on the upper lip from nose to mouth? I am 57 and consider this condition disfiguring.

REPLY

No. These furrows are too deep to be leveled off in this way. Face lifting is a more logical remedy for these lines.

NO PRECAUTIONS NEEDED

Mrs. N.S. writes: A friend from out-of-town wants to visit me for a few weeks. She has psoriasis. What precautions should I take in the kitchen and bathroom?

REPLY

None. This disorder is not contagious.

INSREASE IN PRESSURE

R. L. writes: Is a man of 48 supposed to have the same blood pressure as he had at age 26?

REPLY

Yes, but an increase of 10 to 20 mm. is not serious.

ANXIETY ABOUT HEART

F. I. writes: Is a heart neurosis curable?

REPLY

Yes, by treating the emotional disturbance. The physician makes an attempt to determine why the cardiac neurosis developed and to reassure the victim that the heart is otherwise normal.

RARING TO GO

D. M. writes: I'm a 20-year-old secretary and love my job. But I can't sleep. I'm so tense at night I can't be still and feel like getting all dressed up and going dancing. Perhaps you could offer some help.

REPLY

Get married.

Try And Stop Me

The late Dwight Morrow, brilliant banker and a partner of J. P. Morgan, was very absent-minded. One day he couldn't find his ticket aboard a railroad train. "Never mind, Mr. Morrow," said the conductor, who had recognized him from newspaper photographs. "When you find your ticket, just mail it to the company." "Thank you," said Mr Morrow, "but dammit, I can't remember where I'm going!"

Another time, Morrow found himself in Princeton, and phoned his secretary to ask plaintively, "What am I doing here?" "You're delivering a lecture," the secretary reminded him. Mr. Morrow found a gathering of three hundred students patiently awaiting him, and delivered a memorable lecture on current banking practices.

Proverbial is the jealousy that great pianists nourish for important rivals. Once French master Walter Gieseking went backstage to congratulate Ignace Paderewski after the latter had given a recital at Carnegie Hall. "But I was away off form this evening," protested Paderewski with a fine show of false modesty. "Cheer up," counseled Gieseking complacently. "You'll get worse!"

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

ATHENS, Greece. — He would know. If anyone could understand the problem of Cyprus, it would be George Cavounidis. He is a plump man with bottomless brown eyes and the whispered pleasantry of the diplomat. Mr. Cavounidis is Director General of Press and Information for the Prime Minister of Greece. He could not be expected to understand the Turkish side of the question, but he could speak for his country.

We sat at lunch at the Hilton, nibbling on cold fish and hard cheese. He talked. I ate. Now and then, I scribbled notes. He asked what I knew about Cyprus. I said "nothing." It isn't quite true, but it's a good way to get a man started.

Cyprus is an island about 200 miles long in the eastern Mediterranean. It is much nearer Turkey that it is to Greece. In spite of this, it has been a Greek island since 200 B.C. It is the birthplace of Venus, who appeared out of the foaming sea. Still, the island has been difficult to protect. It has been subjugated by the Phoenicians, the Romans, the Franks, the Turks and the British.

In 1959, the British led the way, in the Treaty of Zurich and London, to independence for Cyprus. It became, in effect, a nation. The population was 540,000, of which 432,00 are Greek; 95,000 are Turks, and 13,000 are British, Lebanese and others. Athens considers that the Greeks of Cyprus are more Greek than the Greeks because they speak a semi-ciassical language, while the people of the mainland speak modern Greek.

The British, as a guarantor nation, wanted no trouble between the 432,000 Greeks and the 95,000 Turks. So they jammed a constitution down the throats of the Cypriots which said that, if the President was to be Greek, then the vice president was to be Turkish and — here's the trouble — the vice president would have veto power over anything the legislature or the President did.

Turkey did not like the treaty, and threatened to exterminate the Greek merchants living in Istanbul. In spite of this, the new nation was born, and the Greek majority elected Archbishop Makarios, a sly churchman who enjoys playing the West against the East, as president. A Turk named Dr. Kioutchouck became vice president.

Kioutchouk, if possible, was happier as vice president than if he had Makarios' job. All he had to do was to sit back and wait for the Greeks to propose a law, and then veto it. The first thing the legislature did was to enact a tax law, because a nation, new or old, cannot exist without taxes. Dr. Kioutchouk vetoed every tax law of the past five years.

Makarios had to appeal to Greek farmers and fishermen to contribute to the government on a voluntary basis. The people paid. Kioutchouk wanted the government to fall into bankruptcy, so that the Turkish government could propose partitioning Cyprus, one-third of the rich northside for Turkey, the remainder to Greece.

Mr. Cavounidis sipped coffee. "Would America — your country — accept a Negro Vice President with veto powers over President Johnson? Let me put it another way. Would America partition itself and give the eastern seaboard to a minority of 18 percent?"

Greece has a population of 8,500,000. Turkey numbers 29,000,000. Both get military aid from the United States, and both are beads in the NATO necklace around the throat of the Soviet Union. The Turkish minority attacked the capital city of Nicosia on Christmas Eve. The fighting has been sporadic ever since.

The mistake of Archbishop Makarios was in assuming that the Greeks on Cyprus were strong enough to wipe out the Turks. He did not think that the mainland Turks would send NATO planes — F 86's — to drop napalm fire bombs marked "Made in U.S.A." on Cyprus. But the Turks did. They also sent Turkish gun boats to shell Greek positions.

A month ago, Makarios decided to wipe out the Turkish position on Mansoura Bay. It was here that the Turks were getting reinforcements and weapons from mainland Turkey. Makarios ordered an attack without consulting Prime Minister George Papandreou of Greece.

As a leader of a so-called independent nation, Makarios did not have to ask advice from the mother country. But he had agreed to do so, and he was morally bound to do it because — without Greece — he is helpless. After the attack, NATO planes manned by Turks strafed and bombed Greek villages on Cyprus. Too late, the United Nations decided to ask for a ceasefire. There were a lot of dead Greek babies and old people.

Makarios, finding that Britain and the U.S. were out of sympathy with him, asked help from Russia. The Soviet Union's reply did not promise military aid. If the world believes in the self-determination of peoples, Cyprus must be Greek, with sufficient guarantees for a Turkish minority to live in honor.

Mr. Cavounidis used his napkin. "We consider war to be a criminal frenzy. We do not want it. I do not think that Turkey wants war," I nodded. "Still," I said, "there's a lot of peaceful shooting going on." . . .

W. Va. Guardsmen Get New Armored Personnel Carriers

SOUTH CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Thirteen M-113 armored personnel carriers produced at the big FMC Ordnance Plant at South Charleston rolled off the assembly line Thursday for distribution to National Guard armories around the state.

The 13 carriers will be located at Charleston, St. Albans, Dunbar, Montgomery, Beckley, Morgantown, Gassaway, Clarksburg, Logan, Welch, Princeton, Moundsville and Bluefield.

Brig. Gen. Gene Hal Williams, state adjutant general, said the carriers will be used in training operations for guard personnel in the 150th Armored Cavalry.

The aluminum armored carriers provide troops with ballistic protection against small arms fire and artillery shell fragments, in addition to performing various other jobs, including that of rocket-launcher.

Orioles Defeat Angels, Recapture Lead

Pappas Fires Four-Hitter, Gets 2-0 Win

Lau Hit Decides Contest, Birds On Unsteady Perch

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Milt Pappas pitched a four-hitter for his third consecutive shutout and Charley Laubroke up a scoreless tie with a two-out single in the ninth inning as the Baltimore Orioles defeated the Los Angeles Angels 2-0 Sunday.

The victory moved the Orioles into the American League lead by two percentage points, pending the outcome of Chicago's second game against Cleveland. The White Sox lost the opener to the Indians 2-0.

Checked on three hits for seven innings by Angel starter Barry Latman, who left for a pinch hitter in the eighth, the Orioles put together a walk and singles by Sam Bowens and Lau for their first run in 18 innings.

After Lau's tie-breaking hit, Jerry Adair walked to load the bases and Angels reliever Bob Duliba uncorked a wild pitch that enabled Bowens to score with the second run.

Boog Powell, making his first start for the Orioles since he fractured his left wrist Aug. 20, drew the walk that started the winning rally. He went hitless in two official trips to the plate, drawing another walk earlier.

Pappas, bringing his record to 14-5, won his sixth straight game and ninth in the last 10 decisions while blanking the Angels for the fourth time this season.

Latman allowed only three hits before he left. Duliba took the loss for a 5-3 record.

JACK DORSEY

Jack Dorsey Wins Singles

Beats Middlecamp In Straight Sets

Jack was nimble . . . Jack . . . was quick . . . Jack won the men's singles championship in the Allegany County Open Tennis Tournament.

It doesn't rhyme, but it describes Jack Dorsey's straight set victory over Larry Middlecamp at the Garlitz courts yesterday, as the Keyser resident stormed to a victory in the finals, 6-2, 6-2, 6-2.

Dorsey, regarded by most observers as the number one tennis player in the area, thus won the singles title for the second straight year and moved two legs up on the three wins needed for permanent possession of the Pepsi-Cola Trophy.

The 36-year-old racquet star won the Charles H. Jones Memorial Bowl for the second straight year. The Bowl is a floating trophy, which goes to the winner each year.

The 45-year-old Middlecamp, a native of Beltsville, was selected this year as an alternate player at Forest Hills, but didn't get a chance to compete in the regular matches.

Only matches remaining in the County Open are the semi-finals and finals of the mixed doubles. The semi-finals are set Wednesday, with the wrap-up Saturday.

Senators Lose To Tigers, 9-3

Snap Scoreless Inning Skein At 38

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Senators snapped their scoreless inning streak at 38 with a run in the second inning Sunday afternoon, but it was their only consolation in a 9-3 thumping at the hands of the Detroit Tigers.

Don Demeter batted in five runs with a single, double and his 20th home run and George Thomas hit his 12th as the Tigers pounded out 13 hits off loser Frank Kreutzer and three successors.

The Senators, who had tied a major league record as the victim of four straight shutouts, loaded the bases in the first inning but Roy Sievers fouled out and Don Zimmer popped up.

They broke their string in the second when John Kennedy singled to center, scoring Don Leppert, who had walked and moved up on Chuck Cottier's single.

Ron Colaw Outstanding In Backfield

Draws Attention In WVU Scrimmage

By ROBERT M. GORNALL
United Press International

JACKSON'S MILL, W. Va. (UPI) — If West Virginia coach Gene Corum asked, "Will the new WVU first team quarterback please stand up?" he'd probably see both Eddie Pastilong and Allen McCune snap to attention.

For both of these signal callers had their day in a tough scrimmage at their annual training camp over the weekend.

The Blue team, under Pastilong scored a 14-8 victory in the two - hour tussle during which Pastilong completed six of 11 aerials.

Ron Colaw and Tom Yeater were the outstanding backs, with Colaw turning in the better performance. Colaw hit through the middle time after time, picking up 15 yards in some carries.

Yanks Whip Athletics, 3-2

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Righthander Roland Sheldon, with shaky ninth inning relief help from Pedro Ramos, led the New York Yankees to a 3-2 victory over the Kansas City Athletics Sunday.

The victory gave the Yankees a three - game sweep over the Athletics and enhanced their late - season pennant drive against the Baltimore Orioles and the Chicago White Sox.

Sheldon who hiked his record to 4-1, was working on a five-hitter and his first shutout when he was replaced by Ramos after walking Wayne Causey to lead off the ninth.

Ramos, acquired only Saturday night from the Cleveland Indians, gave up base hits to Rocky Colavito and Jim Gentile with Causey scoring on Gentile's hit.

Ramos forced Bill Bryan into a double play with Colavito scoring the second run, before retiring Ed Charles on a pop-up to end the game.

Tony Kubek led off the game with his seventh homer off loser Diego Segui (8-14). It was the 199th of the season off the Kansas City pitching staff, tying the major league record set by the Athletics in 1962.

The Yankees added single runs in the sixth and eighth innings. Bobby Richardson, who went 3-for-4, scored both times —in the sixth on Roger Maris' single and in the eighth on Mickey Mantle's fielders choice.

Segui worked the first eight innings, scattered eight of the nine Yankee hits. It was his first loss to the Yankees in three decisions this season. Segui struck out 12 Yankees.

Colavito, bidding for his 300th lifetime homer, came close in the seventh, but his liner deep to left bounced off the top of the fence for a single.

Vern Law Makes Single Run Count

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Jerry Lynch drove in Bill Virdon with a sacrifice fly in the sixth inning and Vern Law made it stand up Sunday, giving the Pittsburgh Pirates their seventh straight victory over Houston 1-0.

The Pirates got the break they needed in the sixth inning.

Virdon opened with a single and advanced to second when the throw from the outfield got Virdon to third and Lynch followed by Nellie Fox. A ground out by with his fly to deep center.

Law, running his record to 10-12, was in trouble several times, allowing nine hits.

The Colts got two hits in the first and seventh and three in the fifth but could not score.

Pickoff Play Backfires As Giants Win, 4-3

Willie Mays' Run Stops Philadelphia; Marichal Winner

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Two errors on an attempted pickoff play enabled Willie Mays to race home from first base with the tie-breaking run in the eighth inning, giving the San Francisco Giants a 4-3 victory over National League-leading Philadelphia Sunday.

Mays drew a walk off relief pitcher Jack Baldschun with one out in the eighth. With Jim Hart at bat, Baldshun threw over to first several times before finally firing the ball past first baseman Frank Thomas.

As Mays headed for third, Thomas retrived the ball and threw it over third base and into the stands, Mays scoring to snap a 3-3 tie.

The victory went to Juan Marichal, who struck out 13—seven in a row at one stretch—and brought his record to 17-6 despite being tagged for homers by Tony Gonzalez in the first and John Callison in the sixth.

Marichal missed the modern record for consecutive strikeouts by one. He started his string with one out in the third by fanning Tony Taylor and Callison. In the fourth, Allen, Covington and Gonzalez struck out. Thomas and Gus Triandos fanned in the fifth before Ruben Amaro broke the string of flying out.

Hurler Loses One-Hitter

Versalles' Homer Gives Twins 2-1 Win Over Bosox

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP) — Zoilo Versalles' two-out, two-run homer in the sixth inning—the only hit off Boston's Bill Monbouquette—gave the Minnesota Twins a 2-1 victory over the Red Sox Sunday.

It was the second no-hitter Versalles had broken up in five days. Tuesday night he singled with one out in the eighth inning for the only hit off Baltimore's Milt Pappas.

Versalles' 385-foot clout off Monbouquette, ironically, came after Rich Rollins had reached first on an error by third baseman Frank Malzone, who had made a one-handed pickup on his slow hopper and overthrew first.

It was a touch call for an official scorer, who hesitated at least a minute before making the error decision.

The homer, No. 20 for the Minnesota shortstop, broke up Monbouquette's bid for the second no-hitter of his career. In 1962 he stopped the Chicago White Sox on no hits, giving up only a walk to Al Smith.

This time Smith delivered Boston's lone run of the game, a fourth inning, 360-foot homer off starter and winner Gerry Arrigo that curved around the left field foul pole.

Bob Miller Quells New York Rally

NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Miller came on in the eighth inning and cut short a New York Met rally, saving a 4-3 victory for the Los Angeles Dodgers Sunday.

Miller relieved starter Howie Reed with the tying run on second and two out but got Charley Smith on a bouncer, ending the threat.

Reed had a neat five-hitter through seven innings but the Mets got to him for a run in the eighth on hits by Ed Kranepool and George Altman before Miller ended the threat.

Jim Gilliam's second homer of the year with Maury Wills on base in the seventh inning had given Los Angeles a 4-1 lead, but New York battled back with a run in the seventh and another in the eighth against Reed.

A crowd of 25,545 was on hand, swelling the Mets' season attendance to 1,607,413 — more than the New York Giants ever drew when they played here. The Giants' top season attendance was 1,600,793 in 1947.

McKinley Cops Easy Victory

Fierce Onslaught Confuses Lall

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Chuck McKinley turned tiger and, hardly making an error, crushed India's talented Premjit Lall Sunday in the second round of the National Tennis Championships 6-0, 6-1, 6-2.

"I've timed myself just about right," the stocky No. 1 ranked American player commented exultantly after his devastating 45-minute victory.

"He was just too good—he completely wrecked my rhythm. I have never seen Chuck play better," said Lall, the tall ace of his country's Davis Cup team.

Lack lustre in his opening match Saturday, McKinley was an entirely different player in his second round test, serving powerfully, smashing and slashing winners from back court as well as at the net.

Lall didn't have a chance. Although rated one of the world's most promising players, he appeared confused by the ferocity of McKinley's whirlwind attack.

"My touch was never better," said Chuck. "I feel fine. I'm hitting my peak at just about the right time for the Davis Cup."

McKinley and Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., are slated to defend the Cup against Australia at Cleveland Sept. 25-27.

One of Australia's Davis Cup members, John Newcombe, the Sydney youngster who was a surprise choice for the Challenge Round at Adelaide last year, had an easy time advancing to the third round.

Bill Lenoir of Tucson, Ariz., defaulted to Newcombe after suffering a pain in his side in the opening set.

The score was 5-5 when Lenoir quit.

Maloney Leads Reds To 6-3 Win

Hurler Belts Homer Against Braves

CINCINNATI (AP) — Righthander Jim Maloney helped his own cause with a three-run homer Sunday as the Cincinnati Reds downed Milwaukee 6-3.

The victory moved the second - place Reds within 5½ games of the Phils, who were defeated by San Francisco.

Maloney's blast—the first Crosley Field homer by a Cincinnati pitcher this season — came in the sixth after the Reds had picked up their third run on singles by Deron Johnson, Leo Cardenas and Steve Boros.

Next inning, Maloney, 13-9, left the game after allowing singles to Denis Menke and Rico Carty.

The Reds scored their first runs in the second inning when Dennis Lemaster, 13-11, walked Don Pavletich and Tommy Harper followed with his third home run.

Orioles Buy Lenny Green

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles, seeking more left-handed batting for the stretch drive, have acquired Lenny Green from the Los Angeles Angels for slightly more than the $20,000 waiver price.

After the Angels obtained Green in a trade earlier this season they sent him to Hawaii for 16 games. Since returning, Green has hit .250 in 39 games, mostly in pinch hit roles.

The Orioles had been seeking a left-handed batting outfielder since Boog Powell injured his wrist last month. Green played with Baltimore from 1957 until being traded in 1959.

Unitas Leads Colts Over Steelers

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Pinpoint passing by Johnny Unitas and some great running by fullback Tony Lorick gave the Baltimore Colts a rousing 48-17 victory over Pittsburgh Sunday as both National Football League teams wound up their exhibition season in the Hall of Fame game.

The victory was Baltimore's fourth against one loss. The Steelers have won one of five pre-season contests.

Unitas picked Pittsburgh apart with his passing, completing 13 of 24 for 242 yards and two touchdowns while Lorick scored twice, once on a three-yard run and again on a 25-yard beauty.

The Colts tore the game apart with three touchdowns in the last period, turning it into a rout.

Cardinals Beat Chicago 5-4 On Brock Hit

Buddy Humphreys Picks Up Win

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Lou Brock's bad-hop single with two out in the 11th inning scored Tim McCarver with the winning run as the St. Louis Cardinals edged the Chicago Cubs 5-4 Sunday.

McCarver opened the 11th with a single and moved around on a sacrifice and an infield out before Brock's hit bounced over shortstop Andre Rodger's head for the winning run.

The Cards rallied for two runs in the ninth, tying it after three solo homers had helped Chicago build a 4-2 lead.

McCarver opened the ninth with a double, moved to third on the rookie Ed Spiezio's pinch single and scored on a force play. An infield out and Bill White's single then tied it.

Bruce Ties Beall 12-12 In Gridiron Surprise

Southern Defeated By Moorefield 19-6

Beall High and Bruce met Saturday night in the first skirmish of the year between Allegany County football teams, but when the final gun souned at Beall High stadium in Frostburg a lot of questions remained unanswered about the balance of 1964 gridiron power in the county.

Pete Ladygo's Bulldogs of Westernport, fielding only their third grid team in the school's history, gained perhaps their most important moral victory to date in holding Jerry Calhoun's ever-rugged Mountaineers to a 12-12 tie.

In its first meeting with the Beall varsity, which hasn't had a losing season since Calhoun took the reins in 1957, underdog Bruce had to fight from behind twice in the second half, overcoming one bad break on a dislay of sheer courage and determination and converting three Mountaineer mishaps into a pair of six-pointers.

With Beall nursing a six point advantage, which came about on a 33-yard bomb from Jim Chaney to Bill Elliott, Bruce let the second-half opening kickoff get away and wound up with the ball on its own one-yard line. The Bulldog cause, at that point, seemed very dark.

Refusing to panic, the Westernporters methodically launched a 99-yard drive, aided by two pass interference penalties, and left 2,500 onlookers awe-struck when Lou Newcomb lugged the pigskin five yards for the equalizer to climax the outburst.

Not one to be taken lightly, Beall quickly got rolling again and scored on an 8-yard scurry by Harry Smith. However, the crazily-bouncing ovoid decided it was Beall's turn to have its back to the wall, and a Bruce punt plopped dead on the one-yard line in the final period.

The Mounties tried to boot their way out of trouble, but the ball wound up on their own 28, and Bruce scored six plays later on a one-yard plunge by Morris Pampinto.

The game ended that way — the score tied, the statistics very even — and perhaps the issue will be decided October 10 at Westernport when the teams meet in an unusual second encounter.

In another Saturday contest, Southern of Oakland lost its Potomac Valley Conference opener at Moorefield, 19-6.

Moorefield's Leroy Redman, sophomore field general, turned in two electrifying plays that made all the difference on the scoreboard.

After John Fields had given the Yellowjackets a 6-0 lead on an 18-yard end sweep, the shortest scoring play of the PVC thriller, Redman picked off a stray pass by Highlander quarterback Charley Davis and galloped with it for 30 yards and another tally.

Redman made a banner day of it when he returned the second half kickoff for 75 yards and a third touchdown, helped by some good blocking.

Turnabout is fair play, and in the final heat Davis picked off a Redman pass and raced 19 yards with it to get Southern on the scoreboard. It was too little and came too late, and Moorefield stowed away an exciting victory.

Moose And Vets Clash Tuesday In Fourth Game

The Loyal Order of Moose team will attempt to wrap up the playoff title in the Rocking Chair Softball League when they tackle the Veterans of Foreign Wars Tuesday in the fourth game of their best-of-five series set for Stitcher Field at 6 p.m.

Both teams are expected to use their best on the rubber in this one and it means that Junior Brelsford (25-6) will be on the firing line for the Moose and Tom McLuckie (14-3) will hurl for the Vets.

If the Vets win this one the fifth and deciding game of the series will be played Wednesday.

Brelsford won the first and third games, defeating Pete Elliott both times, 5-1 and 3-0. Tom McLuckie decisioned Hayden Phillips in the second game, 1-0. The second win scored by Brelsford was a no-hitter.

Tomorrow's engagement will be the eleventh between the teams this season. The Moose tossers hold a 5-4 edge in victories. One game ended in a tie.

CENTENNIAL SCRAPBOOK

The War for the Union 1861-65 in Pictures

No. 436 "Get down, you damned fool, or you'll get shot," Capt. Oliver Wendell Holmes shouted in July 1864 to a tall man in civilian clothes he did not recognize immediately. He was speaking, as he discovered, to President Lincoln at Fort Stevens, in the District of Columbia. Shots were flying toward it from a division of Maj. Gen. Jubal Early's II Corps, Army of Northern Virginia.

To divert Federal strength from Gen. Robert E. Lee's front, Early had been sent on offensive operations in the Shenandoah Valley. After a victory over Gen. David Hunter's forces at Lynchburg, Early proceeded with a raid into the North, with 20,000 infantry and cavalry.

After the Potomac crossing at Shepherdstown, July 5, some 5,000 cattle and 1,000 horses were rounded up in Maryland and sent back to Virginia.

Union forces at Monacy were driven away July 9, and on July 11 Early's cavalry was only three miles from Lincoln's summer home in the outskirts of Washington, D. C.

After the skirmish at Fort Stevens, which brought Lincoln to the firing line, and throwing up of new earthworks (see below) in his path, Early withdrew. He had been successful in relieving Grant's pressure on Robert E. Lee.

CENTENNIAL SCRAPBOOK

The War for the Union 1861-65 in Pictures

No. 437 As indicated previously in this series, not all those who fought in uniforms of the Federal forces were men. A large number of women served as soldiers in the ranks while posing as men. Some, identified here earlier by name, earned promotion to sergeant or officer.

One—possibly the only one—donned the uniform of a regimental chaplain. Ella Hobart Gibson was elected to the chaplainship of the First Wisconsin Regiment of Heavy Artillery in 1864, and stayed with it in the field nine months, till the end of the war.

Numerous wives accompanied soldier husbands, with official permission, as camp laundresses. Some, like Mary Ludwig (Molly Pitcher) Hayes of Revolutionary War fame, became so imbued with martial ardor during battle that they joined in fighting.

Bell Irvin Wiley's "The Life of Billy Yank" (pub. by Bobb-Merrill) records the heroism of several of these. At least two were killed in action.

Chaplain Gibson did not go down in history as another, Rev. Howell Forgy, who, Dec. 7, 1941, exhorted the defenders at Pearl Harbor, "Praise the Lord and pass the ammunition!"

Two Ohioans Die In Crash On Turnpike

West-bound Car In Wrong Lane

Two Ohioans were killed on the Pennsylvania Turnpike about six miles east of Donegal about midnight Saturday when, for some never-to-be-explained reason the westbound motorist was driving in an eastbound lane and crashed headon into another vehicle.

The reason never will be known because the westbound driver, Miss Lucille Rentas, 23, of 748 Damon Place, Akron, Ohio was killed in the crash.

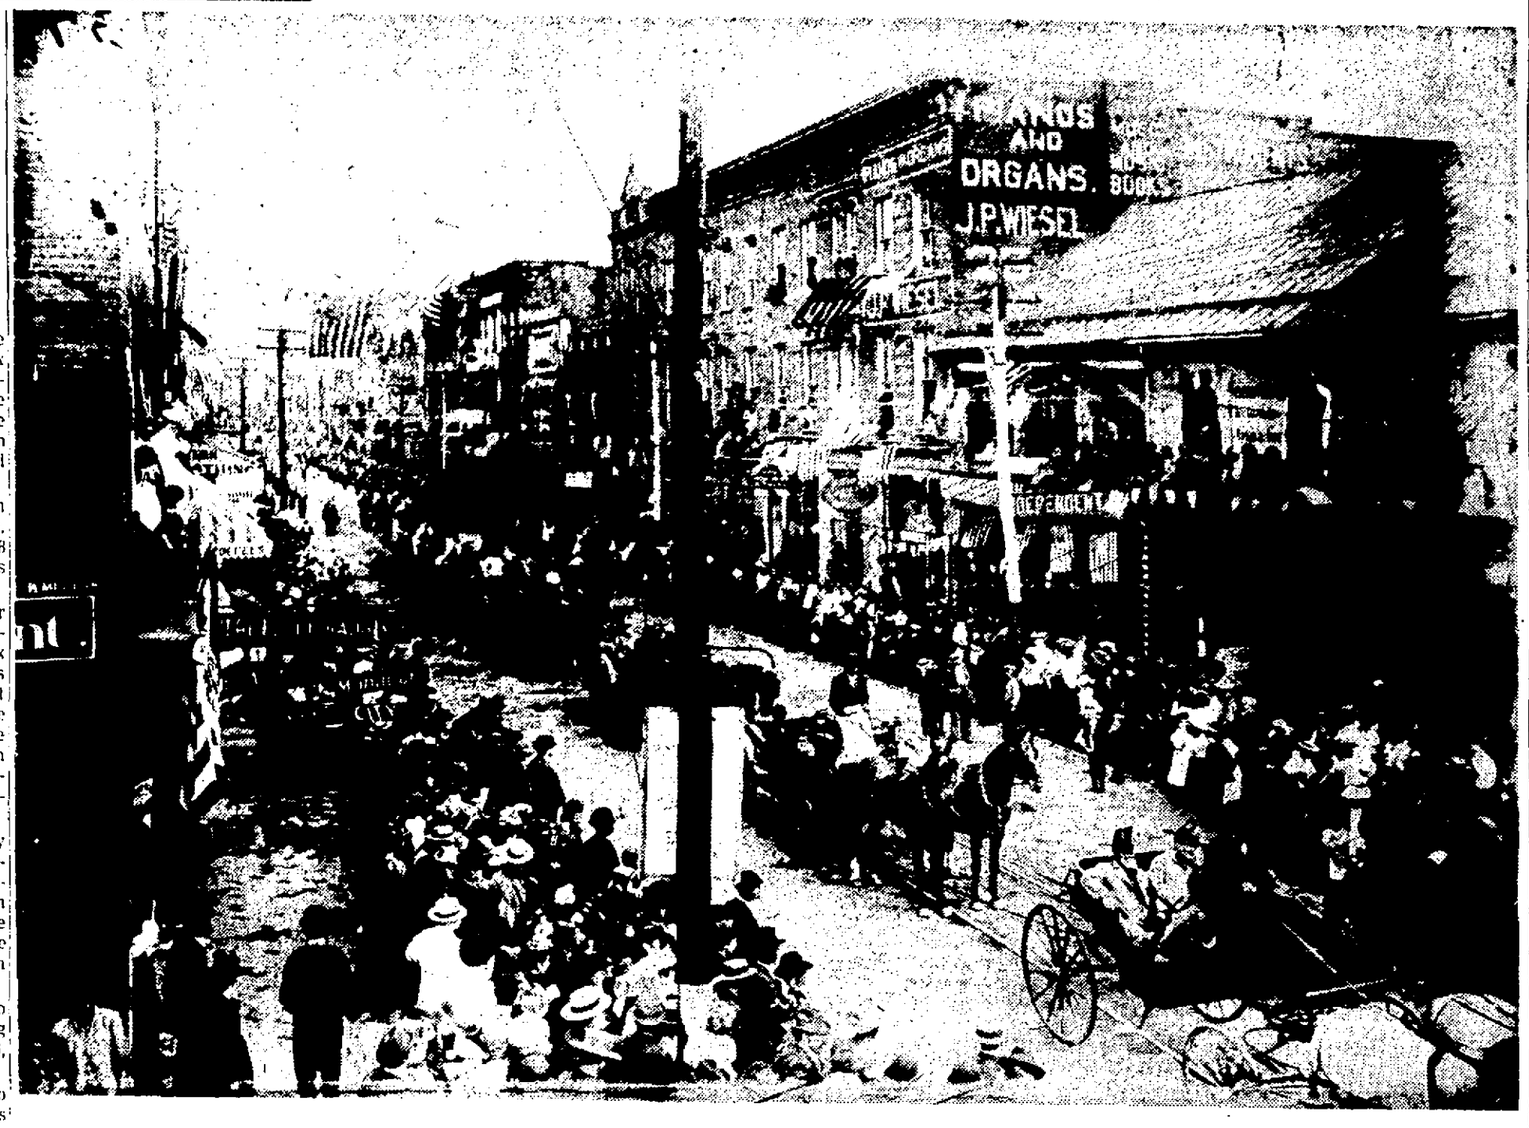
Frank Miller, 26, of 733 Easter Avenue, Akron, her only passenger, was asleep in the back seat. He sustained facial injuries in the crash and is a patient at Somerset County Hospital. As he was asleep, at the time of the crash, he could shed no light on the reason for the driver's apparent confusion, according to Pennsylvania State Police.

Also killed in the Labor Day Weekend crash was Miss Constance Bigler, 17, RD 1, Cambridge, Ohio. She was sitting in the right front seat of the vehicle being driven east on the turnpike by her 16-year-old sister, Patricia Lee Bigler.

Miss Bigler was attempting to pass another eastbound car being driven by Henry Clay Shilling, 36, of RD 4, Freeport, Pa.

The headon collision of the two Ohio vehicles knocked the Rentas car against the Shilling vehicle, which was not greatly damaged. Mr. Shilling was not injured.

The two young Ohioans were pronounced dead on arrival at Frick Memorial Hospital in Mount Pleasant, Pa. Miss Patricia Bigler was reported in serious condition in the same hospital by Pennsylvania State Police.



Presidential Carriage Moves Along Baltimore Street

The 100th anniversary of the erection of Allegany County was marked on Wednesday, September 25, 1889 just 175 years ago this month with a huge street parade in downtown Cumberland. Among the dignitaries who rode in the carriages was the late President Benjamin Harrison who was in the second carriage in company with Senator Henry G. Davis of West Virginia and Lloyd Lowndes, who later became Governor of Maryland. The above picture was taken at the intersection of Mechanic and Baltimore streets and belongs to Herman Miller, retired local fireman, who has a large collection of old pictures of Cumberland.

Bruce High Light Fund Hits $11,225

Installation of lights for the Bruce High School athletic field at Westernport is expected to begin tomorrow with excavation of trenches for underground cables.

The 20 foot-candle lights have been ordered and are expected to be ready for the Bruce football team's first game against Hampshire County High on September 25.

Reports of a fund drive for the lights, read at a meeting of the Bruce High School Sportsmen's Club on Friday, showed cash donations of $11,225 against a goal of $16,000.

The official date of the fund drive has passed, but benefit events will continue to be held until the money has been raised. A horse show will be held September 20 at Moran's field, McCoole Road, and plans for that event will be made at a meeting of the club Thursday in the reading room of the Devon Club at Luke.

County Has A Birthday Coming Up: Ever Put 175 Candles On A Cake?

By CHARLES H. KELLY
News Staff Writer

If Allegany County decides to have a birthday party this year, 175 candles should be placed on the cake.

At the session of the Maryland Legislature in 1789 a petition was presented asking for the erection of a new county, and on December 25 an act was passed accordingly.

The new county, which today has a population of about 85,000, was formed from Washington County which furnished 670,000 acres or two-thirds of its land area.

The actual settlement of the county by white men was long before 1789 and the first white man who went into "the wild mountainous regions of Allegany County was an educated Englishman named Evant," who built a cabin on top of a mountain six or seven miles northwest of the present city of Cumberland.

The county seat, Fort Cumberland, where Cumberland now stands, was laid out in 1749 by the Ohio Land Company and was then supposed to belong to Virginia.

On January 20, 1787 an act was passed by the General Assembly of Maryland authorizing the erection of the town of Cumberland. At that time there were but few houses here and probably about 35 families.

History relates that Frederick Dent, the father of Mrs. U. S. Grant, was the first white child born in Cumberland.

Other Early Towns

Frostburg, originally known as Mount Pleasant, was incorporated in 1870, and Westernport in 1859. Villages which sprang up in the early history of Allegany County included Flintstone, Cresaptown, Mt. Savage and Rawlings.

Seventy-five years ago, in 1889, week-long festivities were held by the county which has reached the century-old mark.

"Cumberland In Holliday Attire—Crowds of Visitors—Historical Addresses—Everybody Having a Good Time," were the headlines of a descriptive story of events held during the latter part of September so as not to clash with Christmas celebrations of families of the county.

"The 100th birthday of Allegany County was joyously announced at daybreak Monday morning by the booming of artillery from the heights of Old Fort Cumberland," was reported in a news story.

The Queen City wore holiday dress and almost every house in the town was gaily decorated with bright colored bunting, flags and banners.

Big Day In Cumberland

Strangers from all parts of the county "poured into town," and nearly everybody in town kept open house and welcomed the visitors "with a heartiness characteristic of mountain hospitality."

Exercises that Monday began at 10 a. m. with a street parade of school children from throughout the county. "Their bright, pretty faces under their gaudy caps made a pretty picture," was a description given by the reporter.

Later the youngsters were served luncheon at the market house and entertained by a stereopticon, which was a highly developed form of the magic lantern. They were all sent home wearing a tag indicating the depot and time at which their trains left.

Other features of the day were literary exercises at the Academy of Music and a baseball game—one of three games to determine the championship of Eastern Pennsylvania.

On Tuesday, the drizzly rain interferred considerably with the exercises and prevented a large number from taking part in the trades display. However in the afternoon a balloon ascension witnessed by several thousand people took place and a parachute leap from about 900 feet was successfully performed.

President In Parade

A highlight of Wednesday's activities was the parade in which President Benjamin Harrison participated. He viewed the parade from a stand opposite the Court House after which he gave a public reception and later was entertained at the home of Lloyd Lowndes before leaving for Deer Park.

The parade "eclipsed even the reunion of the Army of West Virginia held here five years ago," the reporter wrote.

A boat parade that night was a success according to the news reporter, who wrote that the "grand sight of the boats gaily decorated and lighted by Chinese lanterns coming down the Potomac, keeping time to music, seemed more like a fable than reality." Fireworks were watched by 5,000 people.

In conclusion, the reporter wrote that the "management of this celebration can rest assured that their labors have been successful. The amount of their services can not be estimated, but they have the praise of the people in giving the best, most elaborate and grandest celebration this county has ever witnessed."

Daughter Gets License To Wed From Mother

Issuing marriage licenses is nothing new for Mrs. Gusteen H. Linaburg. In the first eight months of 1964 she had issued 1,843 of them in her capacity as marriage license clerk at the Court House.

But last Friday was a special day. She issued a license to John Turley Jr., 507 Eichner Avenue, and Patricia Ann Linaburg, 1031 Frederick Street. The bride-to-be is her daughter. Her father, Charles H. Linaburg, operates the bus terminal on Valley Street.

Democrats Make Headway In Registration

Traveling Registrars Reduce GOP Edge

Democrats made some inroads into the heavy Republican majority in Allegany County during the first week of travels around the county by two substitute registrars of the County Board of Election Supervisors.

Saturday, Francis P. Thompson, Democrat, and Charles G. Llewellyn, Republican, registered 30 prospective new voters, 17 Democrats and 13 Republicans. They got 13 Democrats and five Republicans to register in the afternoon at the Bedford Road Fire Hall and four Democrats and eight Republicans at the Baltimore Pike Fire Hall Saturday night.

During the full week in which they visited seven communities and three industrial plants, the substitute registrars added 97 Democrats, 82 Republicans and six independents.

Meanwhile, John R. Kelly, chief clerk and Democratic registrar, and Irvin J. Neat, Republican registrar, signed up a good many at the board office in the Court House basement. A complete breakdown on their registrations was not available yesterday. On Friday, for instance, they signed up 18 Democrats and only three Republicans.

The office at the Court House is closed today for the Labor Day holiday but will be open Tuesday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. until noon, and 1 to 4 p.m.

Mr. Kelly released figures over the weekend which showed that Allegany County has about 11 registered Republicans to every nine registered Democrats although the Democrats narrowed the margin as a result of August activity.

As of September 1, Allegany County had 39,175 registered voters, 21,556 of them being Republicans, 17,327 Democrats, 283 independents, seven Socialists and two members of other parties. The Democrats picked up 116 new registrants in August to 62 Republicans and six independents.

Mr. Thompson and Mr. Llewellyn will resume their travels Tuesday. They will sit at the Parkside School in LaVale from 2 until 5 p.m. and at the LaVale Fire Hall from 6 until 9 p.m.

On Wednesday, the substitute registrars will sit at the Cresaptown School from 2 until 5 p.m. and from 6 until 9 p. m. On Thursday they will be at the Oldtown School from 2 until 5 p.m. and at the North Branch Fire Hall from 6 until 9 pm. They will end their week Friday by sitting at the Eckhart School from 2 until 5 p.m. and at Blank's Store in Zihiman from 6 until 9 p.m.

Tuesday, September 22, is the last day for residents of Allegany County and the rest of Maryland to register in order to vote in the November 3 general election.

Firemen Respond

East Side firemen had a trip to the intersection of Franklin Street and Columbia Avenue shortly before 8 a.m. yesterday when the fire alarm box at that intersection was being adjusted. There was no fire and the firemen were back at their station on Frederick Street in about five minutes.

County Yield From Taxes Is $3,641,589

90.9 Per Cent Of Annual Figure

Allegany County Tax Collector Francis G. Philpot reported yesterday that the July collections in 1964 county real estate, personal property and corporation taxes added up to a whopping 90.9 per cent of the $4,002,500 the county commissioners anticipated in the entire fiscal year when they set the county tax rate at $2.05 on each $100 of assessed valuation last April.

The July yield, Mr. Philpot reported, was $3,641,589.93 in 1964 county taxes alone.

There had been some speculation that the change in billing and discount dates might adversely affect the county tax collections. Mr. Philpot's disclosure clearly refutes that.

Tops Three Months

Although the bills went out about July 1 compared with June 1 in previous years, more money in 1964 county taxes came to the Court House in July alone than in the three discount months of June, July and August combined last year. Last year's county collections were $3,322,755.22 in June, $137,057.84 in July and $115,237.76 in August, a three-month total of $3,575,050.82. July alone this year is $66,539.11 ahead of that three-month figure.

This year July was the five-per cent discount month and August the month for four per cent discount. Mr. Philpot said the total August collections were about $201,024.50 but he lacks a breakdown on how much was in 1964 county taxes. On the basis of July's experience, it should run about $185,000.

This month a three per cent discount is allowed on county and special taxing area taxes. Beginning October 1 interest will be charged at one-half per cent per month.

Traveling collectors from Mr. Philpot's office will make a final visit in September to seven different communities around the county. They will be at the Lonaconing Fire Hall from 9:30 a.m. until noon Friday, September 18; at the Flintstone Fire Hall from 1 until 3 p.m. Monday, September 21; at the Frostburg Fire Hall from 9:30 a.m. until 3 p.m. Tuesday, September 22.

September Visits

Other September visits will be to the Mt. Savage VFW Home from 1 until 3 p. m. Wednesday, September 23; to the Westernport Town Hall from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m. Thursday, September 24; to the Barton Town Hall from 9 a.m. to noon Monday, September 28, and to the Midland Fire Hall from 1 to 3 p. m. Monday, September 28.

Mr. Philpot's report on July collections also showed considerable success in collecting state real estate, personal property and corporation taxes as well as taxes for seven special taxing areas of the county.

County taxes for 1964 collected in July included $2,423,926.64 from real estate and personal property and $1,217,663.29 from corporations for the $3,641,589.93 total.

Mr. Philpot's staff also collected $249,274.23 for the state in 1964 taxes in July. This included $195,586.79 from real estate and personal property and $53,687.44 from corporations.

Of the supplemental levies collected by the county collector the heaviest July total was $16,574.71 for the LaVale Sanitary Commission on a rate of 10 cents on each $100 of assessed valuation. Oddly, the July collections were 110.5 per cent of the $15,000 the LaVale Sanitary Commission informed the county commissioners it needed in the entire fiscal year.

Fire Department Levy

Next highest was the new supplemental levy for the LaVale Volunteer Fire Department. This rate was seven cents on each $100 of assessed valuation and the July yield of $9,436.66 was 80.8 per cent of the $11,675 the firemen had anticipated in the entire fiscal year.

Other July collections were
